Strong Livestock Markets Contrast of Lower Trends on Most Farm Products

Strong livestock markets contrast with lower trends on most other farm products in the Southwest during the past week, according to a report to The Herald from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Hog prices varied widely up and down but closed Monday about $2 higher on butchers at Kansas City, Denver and Wichita and $1 up at Oklahoma City and Fort Worth. Pigs ranged generally around 50 cents higher at $14 to $16 and pigs old unchanged at $15 to $18 at Fort Worth. Top butchers varied from $21.25 to $22.50.

Cattle sold generally 50 cents to $1 higher for the week, though Texas markets held steady and yearlings about unchanged and Houston closed steady on about all classes. Common and medium slaughter steers and yearlings ranged from $19 to $25 at Houston, while medium and good grades brought $23 to $28 at Fort Worth and $24 to $27.50 at Oklahoma City. San Antonio paid $25.50 to $27.50 for medium light steers and Wichita gave $28.50 to $29 for good kinds. Denver took heifers to $28.50.

Spring lambs gained around 50 cents to $1 during the past week, although old crop lambs sold steady to lower and ewes remained about unchanged. Common to good spring lambs turned at $14 to $23 at San Antonio early this week, as good and choice grades brought $24 to $24.50 at Fort Worth, to $26 at Oklahoma City and Wichita and $27 at Kansas City. Denver bought medium and good woolled lots around $25.

Markets weakened further this week under seasonally heavy production and light hatchery demand. Favorable storage demand prevented even lower prices. Current egg receipts ranged from 35 to 40 cents at most Southwest terminal markets. Good demand for nearly adequate supplies of poultry kept prices firm.

After showing slight strength early, grains began to fall rapidly for weekly losses of 10 to 15 cents a bushel, as timely rains improved crop prospects. No. 1 hard wheat closed Monday at $2.47 1/2 at Texas common points. No. 2 grades of white corn sold around $26.10, yellow corn $23.90, milo fell 22 cents to $3.65 to $3.70.

Milled feeds and oilseed meals sold higher, while most other feeds brought lower prices. Slow movement and slack demand featured the markets. Trade in shelled peanuts remained slow, but peanut oil and meal strengthened. Southwest wool prices advanced sharply.

Cotton gained early but dropped later for $1.25 to $4.35 per bale losses. Spot 15-16 inch middling closed Monday at $7.65 cents a pound at Dallas, $7.10 at Houston, $7.25 at Galveston, $7.15 at New Orleans and $6.70 at Little Rock.

Rev. and Mrs. Miles Attend Assembly of God Convention

Rev. Miles was elected to the office of Sectional Presbyter. Mrs. Miles was elected Sectional Director of the Women's Missionary Council.

Navy Recruiting Schedule Given

According to a report to The Herald early this week a recruiting

Rowland and Cowen Represent McMurry At Track Meet Friday

Hamlin was well represented last Friday night at the McMurry College track meet hosting Southwestern University and Wayland College in a triangler affair under the lights. With Brad Rowland and Les Cowan representing the Indians.

Cowan entered in the Shop Put, Discus and Rowland represented the Indians in the Pole Vault.

Hamlin-Rotan Tie For First Half Honors in 5-A

Hamlin Pied Pipers and Rotan Yellowhammers finished the first half of District 5-A baseball in a tie by each team winning five and losing one. Pied Pipers were idle Tuesday and Rotan beat Roscoe 17-1 to tie them for the lead. Tuesday games ended the first half of the double round-robin schedule.

The standings:

TEAM	W	L	Pct
Hamlin	5	1	.833
Rotan	5	1	.833
Roscoe	3	3	.500
Merkel	3	3	.500
Anson	2	4	.333
Colorado City	2	4	.333
Snyder	1	4	.200

Pied Pipers go to Merkel tonight (Friday) for a game to start the second half. Black and McCurley will be Coach Howard's mound choice.

Hamlin Whips Roscoe, 18-5

After losing their first game last week the Hamlin Pied Pipers began anew in the win column by whipping Roscoe Playboys by a score of 18-5. Pipers clouted two Roscoe flingers for 13 hits. Hamlin 360 006 30x-19 13 6 Roscoe 101 210 000-5 4 8

Cardinals Beat Abilene Team For 4th Win

Hamlin Cardinals turned on the heat Sunday afternoon City Park and defeated the Abilene Merchants 23-14 in the wierdest baseball game yet played by the local club. The win gave the Cardinals five wins and no defeats for the season!

Young Brad Roland, who had previously performed with credit on the mound couldn't get going and things happened so fast that the Abilene club scored 11 runs in the first two innings. However, Black stopped them cold and the Cardinals blasted out enough runs to win several ball games, including a 13-run barrage in the seventh, when one Hamlin hitter came to bat on three separate occasions.

Due to a misunderstanding, the Hardin-Simmons team had to be substituted as the college does not allow their players to engage in Sunday baseball. It is possible, however, that a game will be arranged with the Hardin-Simmons team to be played on a week day in the near future. No Hardin-Simmons player participated in the game Sunday.

The Cardinals will probably play at Spur next Sunday.

Most things a fellow waits for are not worth the delay.

schedule for Hamlin and area cities were given for the Navy by the Abilene Navy Recruiting Station. The schedule will go into effect Monday.

A recruiter will be in Hamlin on Wednesday afternoons; Stamford on Monday afternoon and Rotan on Wednesday mornings.

VFW and Hospital Ask for Information Of Both Wars Dead

Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Hamlin Memorial Hospital management are sponsoring the Memorial List of Hamlin area soldiers lost in World War I and II. Names of the men will be cast on a bronze strip one inch wide and nine inches long, carrying rank, initials, name, on one line, and the year of birth and year of death on the line under the name.

This information, stated a spokesman of the organizations, must be accurate and in most cases the family of the deceased soldier must furnish it. All cost is being borne by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Hospital.

First order for name plates will be sent to New York. New York Monday, May 3 and other orders will be forwarded as the information is received.

Information may be delivered to Arlie Cassle or any of the VFW in the F&M Bank or to the hospital in writing. Please assist this worthy cause.

Judging Teams Of Hamlin FFA Winning Honors

Three teams of the Vocational Agriculture boys from Hamlin High School participated in the annual FFA Judging Contest held at John Tarleton Agriculture College, April 10. Contests included Area 4 and 8, two of the largest FFA areas in Texas.

Hamlin Dairy Cattle Judge team composed of Weldon Townsend, Kenneth Holoway and Jack Willingham won first. Weldon was high point individual in the judging and Kenneth was fifth in the division.

Hamlin's Livestock Judging Team composed of Donald Young, Clifton Townsend and Alton Kite was first. Clifton was third high point man.

Hamlin's Poultry Team composed of Donald Rowland, Donald Johnson and James Brigham won 14th out of 27 teams.

Beautiful first place banners were presented by the Tarleton College for the first places won by the livestock and dairy teams.

Both the dairy and livestock teams coped in the strong Tech College contest of judging at Lubbock last Saturday winning third and fourth respectively. These teams will compete in the State FFA Judging Contest to be held at the Texas A&M College Station this Saturday.

Bethel Cemetery to Meet Saturday Morn

Bethel Cemetery Association at Funston will meet Saturday, May 1. There will be a sermon by Rev. Frank Foster in the morning.

All attendants are asked to bring a basket lunch.

According to J. C. Fielder, president of the association, all new officers are to be elected at this time.

Future Farmers of America

By Weldon Townsend
Letters FFA stand for Future Farmers of America. This is a national organization of boys studying Vocational Agriculture. It was founded in November 1928 and since this date the growth of the Future Farmers of America has been steady and rapid. Today there are over 200,000 FFA boys scattered throughout the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Although boys studying Vocational Agriculture constitutes its only active membership, provision is made also for associate and honorary FFA membership.

The tea-chap of Vocational Agriculture serve as local chapter advisers and State Supervisors of Agricultural Education serve as State Advisers. Boy officers for each unit of the FFA, local, State and national are elected annually.

Programs of work participated in by all members are set up annually by every chapter. These programs are built on the needs of the individual and the community. We have group thinking, cooperation and the type of work which we believe is valuable agricultural training.

Harley Sadler Speaks to Local Lions Tuesday

Lions Club heard Harley Sadler of Sweetwater at the Tuesday luncheon, and as usual, Mr. Sadler had the attention of his listeners and proved a very interesting speaker throughout his rather lengthy talk. He gave a lot of good sound advice, together with a number of witty remarks.

New officers were elected as follows: President, Stanley Car michael; first vice-president, Jimmie Irwin; second vice-president, J. H. King; third vice-president, Clyde Angel; tall twister, Herman Treadwell; lion tamer, Arlie Cassle; song leader, Herman McBride; two year directors, Travis Hash and A. Spencer. New officials will take office the first Tuesday in June.

Exams for Highway Patrol Jobs Saturday

Interested Hamlin area applicants are advised this week of the statewide preliminary examination for appointment to the Texas Highway Patrol will be given at all district offices of the Patrol Saturday, May 1, according to Captain Harry Hutchinson of the Abilene office.

Recruits obtained from this examination will enter training July 1. They will be part of the increase of 200 patrolmen authorized by the last legislature.

Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., is director of the Department of Public Safety and the Highway Department.

Man is the only animal that blanches, or has need to.

Much Interest Shown In Nazarene Revival Now In Progress

The revival now in progress at the Nazarene Church is attracting splendid crowds, and a great interest is manifest. Much spiritual good has been the result. The meeting began April 28 and will continue on through May 9. Rev. H. D. Burson is doing the preaching and his son, Ernie is in charge of the singing.

A cordial invitation is extended to all by the pastor and the church to attend these services.

McCrarys to Have Open House Tuesday

Dr. and Mrs. Joe McCrary wish to announce that they have moved into their new home and will have an open house on Tuesday evening, May 4, from 7:00 o'clock p. m. until 10:00 o'clock p. m.

Public is cordially invited to visit.

Hamlin Lions to Sponsor Play Here May 10

Hamlin Lions Club will sponsor a play, "Sainly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners," at the Hamlin High School auditorium on the night of May 10. Harley Sadler of Sweetwater will be in the leading role, supported by a cast of business and professional men and women of Sweetwater, who have been well coached for their parts.

The play portrays just what the title implies and is a good moral lesson to the story. It has been played at several towns around Sweetwater and splendid crowds have been the result.

Receipts from the show will be used for charitable purposes.

A number of Hamlin Lions attended a one meeting in Sweetwater Tuesday night at which more than 500 attended from various towns in the district. A big supper, ranch style, was served and the entertainment offered was exceptionally good, featured by a square dance put on by the Sweetwater square dance team. Hamlin's offering to the entertainment feature were a number of songs by Lester Morton, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Morton.

District Convention will be held at Wichita Falls Sunday and Monday and several members of the local club plan to attend.

Cub Scout Dens to Present Program, Receive Charter

Cub Scout Dens of Hamlin will present a program for all parents of Hamlin in the Elementary School auditorium Friday night (tonight) beginning at 7:45 o'clock p. m.

Mr. Paul Ireland of Abilene, district Scout Executive, will present the official charter to the pack at this meeting.

Displays of the work and play of the Cubbing will be shown in the gymnasium.

All parents whose child has an advancement or achievement must be present to present this to his son.

If any boy from the ages of nine to 12 wishes to join the Cubs, come to this meeting with one or both parents.

Public is cordially invited.

Many Attend VFW Meet at Stamford

A number from Hamlin attended the District Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars held in Stamford Sunday.

Those attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Huff, Mrs. Cleo Perryman, Mrs. Noble Watson, Mrs. J. V. Howard Jr., Lucille Scarbrough and Arlie Cassle. Lewis Yates was elected as District Senior Vice Commander, Mrs. Clyde Huff was elected as District Conductress and Mrs. Lewis Yates as District Chaplain in the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW.

Jones County Oil Play Shows Bright Spurt This Week With New Permits

Softball League to Open in Stamford Night of May 1

Announcement has been made that the first game in the West Texas Softball League, of which Stamford is a member, will be played at Stamford Saturday night against the Lubbock Blue Bonnets. Weeks and Mickler will be the pitchers for Stamford, while Jackie Neil will be Lubbock's selection.

Jones County HD Clubs to Observe National Week

Home Demonstration Club women of Jones County plan to observe National Home Demonstration Week, May 2-8, by putting up educational exhibits over the county. National Week will be observed in many different ways throughout the nation, but the theme for all will be "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Invitation has been extended to those interested by Loretta Allen, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent, to see the following exhibits at the places listed.

Rugs and bedspreads—Hamlin, Bryant-Link Company by the Tuxedo Club.

Rugs—Stamford, Penny's by the Pleasant Valley Club.

Better quality eggs—Lueders, at the No. 4 J. L. Stephens, 600 feet from the west and 1,209 feet from the south line of the R. L. Stephenson 517 acre tract in the M. Fragosa survey. Permit is for 5,500 feet with rotary and is to begin drilling next Wednesday.

Making pictures and frames—Anson Western Observer Office by Blue Bonnet Club.

Rug Making—Hodges, Hodges Store by Hodges Club.

Making pictures and frames—Goodman, Goodman Store by the Goodman Club.

There are a few other clubs that will have exhibits but plans have not been completed. Some clubs are planning special programs and inviting other clubs as guests. New Hope Club has a special program planned for Monday.

In further observance of the Home Demonstration Week it seems fitting to look back at a few highlights of the Home Demonstration program for the past 17 years.

Miss Sue Bonner was the first agent coming to Jones County on June 1, 1931. She served as agent until February 1935. Miss Jewel Faulkner followed her and served from February 1935 to July 1936. Miss Gladys Martin followed her and stayed until November 1941. Mrs. Clara Brown Long took over the duties of the office and resigned in September 1945 and her place was filled in October by Miss Hanah Nabors who served as agent until February 1947. Her place was filled February 1, 1947 by Miss Loretta Allen who is now serving as Home Demonstration Agent.

District Agents who have served Jones County as part of their Extension District are as follows: Miss Myrtle Murray, Miss Lida Cooper, Miss Maurine Hearn and at present Miss Thelma Casey.

Following women have served in the past as chairman of the County Home Demonstration Council: Mmes. Bert Whaley, J. L. Keen, W. C. McDaniels, Loyd Sebastian, V. L. Merritt, H. P. Harvey, Dewey Ramsey, Will Myatt, C. D. Bingham, Charley Myatt and at present Mrs. Max Harvey.

Some of the demonstrations carried in previous years include the following: garden, pantry-food preservation, kitchen improvement, bedroom improvement, living room improvement, Landscaping and clothing are demonstrations being carried at the present time. There are 12 clubs in the county with a total enrollment of 228 women.

Scald That Food Pail! Scalding and airing at night is the way to prevent that "stale" odor in the lunch pail which may give an unpleasant taste to food carried in it.

Oil play around the Hamlin area this showed up brightly with several new outposts and wildcats permitted early this week.

About 30 miles southeast of Hamlin Manley Brothers of Wichita Falls has scheduled a 2,500 foot wildcat, No. 1 Ann Rutledge, 2,670 feet from the east and 1,679 feet from the south lines of section 46, block 16, T&P survey.

And about 32 miles northeast of Hamlin B. C. McMordie Jr., et al of Albany will drill No. 1 H. M. Conally et al, 1,544 feet from the west and 330 feet from south lines of subdivision 3, A. W. Hill survey 4. This is to drill to 2,150 feet with cable tools.

A southeast outpost for a north corner test to the Bartlett Pool, King and Swastika sand area about 18 miles west of Hamlin has been filed by Ungren & Prazier of Abilene.

A southeast location is No. 2 Mattie V. Alexander, 330 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west lines of section 34, block 2, SP survey. Permit is to 3,500 feet with rotary.

A north test, to start next Wednesday, is the No. 3 H. L. Bartlett, 1,051 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east lines of section 43, block 2, SP survey.

While about 28 miles northeast of Hamlin, a northwest outpost of multiple production has been located by J. C. Hunter Jr., as the No. 4 J. L. Stephens, 330 feet from the east and 2,310 feet from the south lines of the north half of subdivision 13, Robert Smith survey. It's permit is to 2,400 feet with cable tools.

Early this week a new Jones County deep test to go to the Ellenburger was made about 23 miles southeast of Hamlin by the Danclger Oil & Refining Company, as the No. 4 R. L. Stephens, 600 feet from the west and 1,209 feet from the south line of the R. L. Stephenson 517 acre tract in the M. Fragosa survey. Permit is for 5,500 feet with rotary and is to begin drilling next Wednesday.

In the Bartlett Pool about 20 miles southwest of Hamlin, a location for a north extension try to the east side of the present production has been filed by the North American Oil Consolidated as the No. 1 W. M. Arnett, 330 feet from the south and east lines of the north half of section 33, block 2 SP survey. It's permit was for 4,000 feet with rotary.

While east of the Jones County line about 36 miles southeast of Hamlin the E. H. R. Sabens et al is to drill the No. 1 B. B. C. Harvey.

Plug was set on the Ellenburger early this week in preparation of further shows in the Swastika on the Fisher County wildcat, located about 26 miles south of Hamlin, the Exploration Drilling Company, No. 1 H. S. Newman, 660 feet from the south line of subdivision 274, John Rodman survey and 660 feet east of the east line of El Paso County School Lands. It topped the Ellenburger at 6,145 feet and was drilled to 6,318 feet, where water was found. No shows of oil or gas in commercial quantities was logged. Next tests are to be on the Swastika from 4,048-56 feet where a drillstem test showed some gas and oil as the well drilled.

While about 10 miles southwest of Hamlin the location for a second try for deep production from reef or Ellenburger has been filed by the General Crude Oil Company as the No. 1 N. H. Jackson et al east of the production in the Round Top Pool, 725 feet from the east and 550 feet from the most southerly south line of section 83 of block 1 H&TC survey. It is on permit for 5,000 feet with rotary.

And about nine miles southeast of Hamlin S. B. Roberts et al No. 1 P. H. Osek was drilling below 3,700 feet with no shows so far. It's permit is for Ellenburger for 6,000 feet with rotary.

Ohio is one of our ranking states in agriculture, natural resources, manufacturing and commercial activities.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Revolt Interrupts Bogota Parley; Miners Get Pension, End Walkout; GOP Aspirants in Primaries Fight

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

REVOLT: Bogota

It was a peaceful early afternoon in Bogota, Colombia, and the inter-American conference was droning along in customary style in the capitol building on the Plaza Bolivar.

Then, with the firing of four assassin's bullets into the body of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, popular leader of Colombia's Liberal party, one of the worst revolts Latin American has seen exploded into violence.

During the first afternoon Bogota descended into a state of complete anarchy. Mobs prowled the streets, burning and looting. Scores were killed. The residence of President Ospina Perez was attacked and windows were broken before army troops drove away the crowd.

Above the confused clamor of the throng could be heard shouts of "Down with the government, down with the Conservatives."

Three days later, as the riots simmered to a halt, 300 persons were dead, many others injured. Downtown Bogota was a welter of destruction. Colombia had broken relations with Soviet Russia, and the inter-American conference had almost cracked up, with delegates uncertain as to whether they could continue.

On the face of it, the revolt was a sudden eruption of violent sentiment of Liberal party followers against the Conservative government in power. Immediate result was the formation of a new coalition cabinet, equally composed of Liberals and Conservatives.

Big question was how much Communists had to do with the Bogota riots.

U.S. Secretary of State George Marshall, who with other Americans in Bogota got through the riots unscathed, claimed the revolt was Communist.

"The occurrence goes beyond Colombia. It is of the same definite patterns as the occurrences which provoked strikes in France and Italy."

And the Colombian government, in severing relations with Russia, declared that a "Communist insurrection" had touched off the mob fury.

Finally, it was announced from Bogota that the inter-American conference would resume "so that Communism could not triumph over Colombia and the rest of the nations of the hemisphere."

SETTLEMENT: Coal Strike

John L. Lewis wasn't exactly in the position of a man who had asked friends out to dinner and then found he couldn't pay the check, but he was verging on some such situation.

Half a million soft coal miners started to straggle back to work after a 28-day strike when Lewis informed them that the fight for $100-a-month pensions had been won, but Lewis himself had to appear before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to answer a contempt of court charge.

Lewis was cited for contempt by Goldsborough, his 1947 nemesis, on the grounds that he ignored an April 3 court order to call off the strike.

Apart from the contempt of court citation, settlement of the coal strike was distinguished mainly by a slightly marvelous amalgam of political action and expedient compromise.

Beginning of the end came when Speaker of the House Joseph Martin (Rep., Mass.) moved into the dispute by persuading Lewis and Ezra Van Horn, a mine operator, to meet with him in his office. Martin then suggested that Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.) be named the third member of the board which administers the miners' welfare and retirement fund. (Lewis and Van Horn are the other two members.)

At a subsequent meeting of the three, Bridges proposed a plan that would give $100-a-month pensions to 62-year-old miners with 20 years of service who retired after May 28, 1946, the date on which the miners' welfare fund was set up. Bridges' plan was accepted and the strike called off.

Actually, Lewis, in approving the New Hampshire senator's proposal, had descended several notches from his original demands.

Politically, the most fascinating aspect of the affair was how Joe Martin managed to take the play away from the administration in arranging for a settlement.

EDUCATION:

Nearly half of the 5,245,000 World War II veterans who entered special education and training programs under the G.I. bill of rights have abandoned their courses, Veterans' administration says.

More than 400,000 completed their work, however—382,000 of them under the G.I. bill and the rest under the rehabilitation program for disabled veterans. Many of those that quit plan to return later, it was indicated.

On Wisconsin

In his South St. Paul home Stassen grinned with the comfortable cheer of a cat who had just swiped all the cream in Wisconsin as he sat with his wife and received reports stating that he had run off with 19 of the 27 delegates in that state's primary election.

PRIMARIES: Wisconsin

Wisconsin's presidential primary election to choose delegates to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia on June 21 was regarded, as usual, as a straw in the wind; but this year the political breeze was a shifting one.

For Harold Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota, a hard, thorough campaign waged by himself and his volunteer supporters up and down the state paid off nobly when Wisconsin voters granted him a total of 19 of the state's 27 delegates to the GOP convention.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur took the remaining eight to run a poor second, despite a flamboyant publicity drive carried out by his backers (notably the Hearst newspapers) which was built around the theory that he is "the only man equipped to deal with Russia."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York drew a complete blank in Wisconsin, where he had been the Republican favorite in 1940 and again in 1944.

As a result of the Wisconsin election, Stassen was catapulted into public consciousness as a leading contender for the Republican nomination. It was certain that his top-heavy victory there would be reflected in the other primaries to follow, and that he had gained considerable stature in the Midwest.

It was difficult to tell which of the two losers—Dewey or MacArthur—had been hit harder by his defeat. Dewey, who received no delegates, might seem to be in a position similar to that of Wendell Willkie in 1944 when he withdrew from the GOP race after losing ignominiously in the Wisconsin primary. But the New York governor previously had beaten Stassen in the New Hampshire primary, and, also, he had the full slate of New York delegates pledged to him.

It was on MacArthur, who had claimed Wisconsin as his home state, that the axe of public disfavor appeared to have fallen with greatest force.

More To Come

From Wisconsin the election year wind swung to the plains of Nebraska where seven leading contenders in the Republican presidential race fought it out in a free-for-all match, with Stassen again emerging as the big winner.

After Nebraska the battlefield shifted to Pennsylvania and Massachusetts on April 27. A total of 103 delegates to the GOP convention was at stake.

On May 4 Harold Stassen was to carry the fight to Sen. Howard Taft's home arena, the state of Ohio. It was no secret that Taft was worried over which way his fellow Ohioans might go, and a good showing by Stassen would hamper materially Taft's White House ambitions.

In his second pitched battle with Governor Dewey (New Hampshire was the first) Stassen was slated to invade Oregon for that state's GOP primary on May 21. While results of the Oregon primary were not expected to be conclusive, they would serve to provide a first sampling of West coast opinion.

Final state presidential primary on the Republican side occurs in California on June 1. Earl Warren is unopposed as the state's favorite son for the GOP nomination.

Gasoline from Coal

Gasoline made from coal, even when it comes into general use, probably will cost more than petroleum gasoline, but at least motorists won't have to worry about shortages, a research scientist, Dr. R. W. Krebs of Baton Rouge, La., has predicted. He estimated that coal gasoline will cost from 10 to 15 cents more a gallon than gasoline currently in use, but he added that the supply will be enough to last 1,000 years.

TREATY: Finns-Russ

Russia had what it wanted from Finland—a buffer state to the north-west.

The two nations signed a 10-year treaty of mutual assistance which binds Finland to fight within its own borders in the event either country is attacked.

Finland and Russia, stated the pact, would battle side by side to repel aggression by Germany "or another state allied with Germany." The treaty circumspectly failed to mention any other state by name.

Despite the fact that Finland's delegation virtually had been commanded to appear at Moscow to sign a treaty with Russia, Premier Josef Stalin beamed expansively after the agreement had been concluded, hailing it as a "treaty between equals."

"I would like to see us pass from a long period of mutual distrust against each other, to a new period in our relations—to a period of mutual trust."

Actually, the Finns got a better deal from Russia than they might have hoped for. Their nation had not been forced into a tight, arbitrary military accord with the Soviets, nor had Finland lost its sovereignty although it was brought firmly into the bloc of states along Russia's exposed western flank.

ATOM BOMB: No Secret

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal put a name and a definitive edge, after a fashion, to all the restless postwar fears Americans have been experiencing.

He did it by announcing to the house armed services committee that Russia knows how to make the atomic bomb. More specifically, the Russians possess the knowledge of how to put the bomb together but so far do not have the industrial capacity to capitalize on that knowledge.

Russia does not yet have an atom bomb, but the days of U. S. monopoly of A-bomb production are numbered, Forrestal said. He told the congressional committee that he got his information from Dr. Vannevar Bush, chairman of the U.S. research and development board.

During the course of his testimony regarding a two-year draft of men 19 through 25, the defense secretary answered queries with:

"I said they do not have the atom bomb. I did not say they do not have the secret of the atom bomb."

"I am informed by Dr. Bush that the scientific knowledge and technical procedure involved in the manufacture of the atom bomb are known to Russia."

Thus, U.S.-Russian relations on the atomic level had developed to the point where there was only one unknown quantity: How soon would the Soviets acquire the industrial capacity to produce atom bombs?

Secretary Forrestal admitted he didn't know.

Italian Style

U.S. Ambassador to Italy James Clement Dunn (right) peers benevolently at an Italian worker in Taranto as he tastes grain that was among the foodstuffs delivered aboard the 506th relief ship to bring food to Italy.

CONTROLS: Cold Shoulder

The jeering specter of price, wage and ration controls was invoked again by President Truman's council of economic advisers which called for nationwide "discipline" to prevent inflation under the impact of the new defense program.

As usual, this advice rattled cheerlessly among the stony hearts of electioneering congressmen.

In its report covering the first three months of 1948 the council denounced the tax cut law as "inflationary" and recommended new taxes if the planned defense spending is not offset by reduced government costs in other areas.

Republican-dominated congress received rather happily the council's call for reduced government spending, but maintained a glum silence on the subject of selective price, wage and ration controls.

Congressmen indicated that they want to study possible inflationary effects of the preparedness program and foreign aid spending under the Marshall plan before they give any serious consideration to resurrecting economic controls.

Although the council admitted that foreign spending coupled with a big defense outlay "will not swamp our economy nor require us to pass from free enterprise to regimentation," it added that "some rather systematic and vigorous discipline must be exercised."

Muff (a Dog) Has Her Ideas About the Nobility of Man

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—There is nothing particularly strange about a dog guarding a batch of milk cans like the one in the accompanying photograph. You wouldn't be too surprised to be told that the dog knew who should collect the cans and who shouldn't; to hear about other dogs who go to the store with a shopping list, bring back groceries and even steaks in the basket they carry; and you know all about the wonderful "Seeing-Eye" dogs which not only guard their masters from harm, but often appear to sense danger's approach.

But the other day I had an experience with a dog which you probably won't believe.

I was sitting at twilight on my porch after a long day and a comforting meal. I was digesting my dinner while Muff, my wire-haired fox, was removing the last vestiges of her share of it from her beard. She was loling in front of me on the flat topped porchpost, her favorite resting place. She finished her toilet, flopped her chin on one paw facing me and winked—or so it seemed in the fading light. A robin was sounding the last sleepy cadences of his vesper song from the recesses of an ancient maple.

I looked at Muff. She looked back and smiled beneath her whiskers—or so I guessed she might be doing.

"If I had the patience," I said half-aloud, "I could teach you to talk."

"Oh, no you couldn't!" I could almost swear Muff had responded. She certainly had opened her mouth. I let my imagination run on. "Oh, yes, I could," I replied, pretending she could understand me. "You've got the brains. How do you know that when I take my briefcase, I'll be back in the evening and when I take my suitcase, I won't be back for several days? You DO know, because you show it very plainly: briefcase, a couple of wags and a woof; suitcase, body-wiggles, plaintive arfs, up-jumping and hand-licks."

I went on cataloguing the obvious indications of Muff's intelligence, which far surpasses that of many loquacious human acquaintances. As I talked on, Muff rolled over carefully (there was just room for it on her perch) and yawned. Not because she was bored, as I was to learn later, but because praise of this type always embarrasses her. She will wag herself waggles at a "good dog!" for some stupid, fetch-and-carry trick that even a Boston terrier could learn, but when one praises her intellectual achievements, it always embarrasses her and she tries to hide it.

"Well," I insisted, "It's true you are intelligent enough to talk." Then I was puzzled. Distinctly, though in a breathy voice which sounded the way a dog does before he has quite decided to bark, I heard an answer: "It isn't that I am not intelligent enough. And it isn't that dogs will never talk, but I'm afraid I shall never learn."

I'm dreaming, I said to myself, but no. There was Muff, there was the outline of the maple, dim now as the darkness gathered. There was I.

I shut my eyes. I'll handle this rationally, I said. Just let things happen. I relaxed and was less surprised to hear the soft, breathy voice continue: "It isn't that there's anything wrong with my speech center in the third, left convolution of my cortex—but, I want to repeat, that dogs never can learn to talk. . . ."

Gently I opened my eyes. Muff was sitting up now, her head cocked to one side, her mouth, or at least her jaw, moving a little, because even in the crepuscule I could see her beard wagging gently as she went on:

"Because, as you may know, we canines, and I believe this applies to other animals as well, have far clearer race-memories than human beings. You sometimes mistakenly refer to these memories as intuition. That is nonsense."

"We canines picked man as a friend and were probably one of the great factors in his domestication, largely because we found him more malleable than any of the other fauna. And I think we have done a good job. We have not been harsh masters. We may be over-sentimental at times, but you with YOUR maudlin sentiment, you frequently interpret sound, practical loyalty, motivated by a high moral sense, as a slavish devotion."

"But I'm digressing (the voice went on)—what I would like to bring to your attention is this business of race memories. You men have some, too, and you have something else—traditions. They don't go back as far, but they are part and parcel of the same thing. Only many of your traditions lead you into trouble. In the last few months, while you thought I was asleep, I've heard you and your high-brow friends use phrases like, 'always been wars'; peace never has been maintained except by 'balance of power'; men are 'fighting animals' and so on ad nauseam—(pardon the Latin but a Roman senator belonged to one of my ancestors.) Now I, with my race memories—can recall more of them which have worn thin and been discarded than your species (which I doubt will have a very extended destiny) ever will have.

"Just an example. With little effort, I can recall some of the silly shibboleths which made trouble for some of my ancestors. It was back in the stone age, just about the same time when we canines decided Man had reached the point where he was ready for adoption and training in civilization."

"At that period in pre-history we had advanced to the point where we hunted in packs instead of singly. Our policy was still kill and let be killed although some of us had discovered its fallacy. We also had a long list of so-called hereditary enemies, and next to the apes, Man led them all.

"I don't know how many centuries it took to revise that list, and accept Man as a friend. A pretty stupid and cruel friend, to be sure, but one who could be trained. There was one saying, I believe, which was very popular, but which the more enlightened canines knew was nothing but an old females' tale. It went: 'Don't trust a man any farther than you can smell him.' You would realize the force of that if you knew how far you used to smell."

"There was another saying: 'The only good man is a dead one, and even then you'd better let the jackals taste him first.' I could go on endlessly. It took an awful lot of work to explode those myths. Almost as long as it did to get some of the cruelty out of Man. We've gone a long way in that direction, as you know. In another 10 or 15 centuries I wouldn't be surprised if we got you to treat each other as well as most of you treat us. Your wars! Ugh! That shouldn't—and wouldn't—happen to a dog!"

At this point I sat up. Muff always had been faithful, obedient, and I thought not only my true friend, but also, my respectful and humble servant. And this was going too far! Why this was impertinent. My own dog, talking like that!

I must have spoken out loud, for I heard something that sounded like a laugh.

"Now don't try to bust your leash," I heard her remark. "After all, if you think I'm your dog, okay. Some how I feel that you're my man. So let's let it go at that and we'll both be happy."

"I didn't mean to run on like this and I didn't mean to get dogmatic. I just wanted to say that I know my limitations. I can't talk. But if it's in the canine cards, my descendants will. It took several thousand years to kill the race memories which would have dictated that I take a nip out of your calf instead of licking your hand. And, there's hope for you, too. Maybe progress is just around the corner."

There was a sudden whoosh, a flash of gray in the night, followed by a parabola of fur as Muff left the post in one leap after the neighbor's cat which by now was snickering at her from the maple branch.

Muff came back. She gave me a hang-dog look and remarked through her whiskers. "That is one race-memory that I can't eliminate." "And by the way," she added, "Don't mention this conversation. Nobody will believe you if you do."

ABOUT OUR PRESIDENTS

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has the unique distinction of having approved several bills which he had signed as President of the United States which he had signed as president of the senate when he was vice president.

PRESIDENT MARTIN VAN BUREN entered the White House with four motherless sons.

ONE OF OUR PRESIDENTS, George Washington, was a farmer. Twenty-two were lawyers, two were army officers, two were in politics, one was a teacher, one a publisher, one was a mining engineer and one a merchant.

College Students Admit Offenses

Texas Survey Reveals They Are Just Better at Covering Trails.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—College students indulge in the same juvenile delinquency offenses as boys and girls who do not have the opportunity for higher education, but only a few of them ever get into court, says Austin L. Porterfield of the department of sociology of Texas Christian university.

Writing in the Christian-Evangelist, a national weekly church publication, he cites a study of 2,049 alleged delinquents in Fort Worth, Tex., and of 337 college students in three schools in northern Texas.

"It is a striking fact," says Porterfield, "that 100 per cent of the men and women in college reported doing at last one of the acts that had been serious enough to get less fortunate boys and girls into the courts, but instead of getting into court the former went to college."

Everyone Guilty.

The average college man reported doing in his pre-college days 17.6 per cent of the acts charged against court cases, the average college woman 4.7 per cent of the delinquent acts.

Not one acknowledged less than three kinds of delinquent acts.

Specific juvenile offenses which got into the court records varied all the way from shooting spit wads to murder.

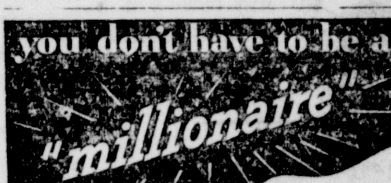

Students, answering questionnaires anonymously, freely reported delinquencies of the same kind.

These students in their pre-college days "disturbed church, turned in false fire alarms, tripped trolleys, threw rocks at cars, set off fireworks in public buildings, drove while intoxicated, stole automobiles, bicycles, money, shoplifted, burglarized houses, forged checks, gambled, passed slugs and bad coins, had pre-marital sexual intimacies, attempted rape and so on."

They Have a 'Drag.'

Thirty-nine per cent of the men and 3 per cent of the girls reported drunkenness before enrolling in college, Porterfield disclosed, and 43 per cent of the men indulged in drunkenness during their college days.

Porterfield concludes that pre-college students do not suffer the penalties of these offenses because they have plenty of persons who "go to bat" for them, friends in the home, school, church and community.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is a constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Ann Agnew and Lavon Stewart Represent HHS at State Meet of FHA in Galveston

Ann Agnew and Lavon Stewart represented Hamlin High School at the State Meeting of Future Homemakers of America in Galveston April 23 and 24. They were accompanied by Miss Martha Reese.

A total of 64 other representatives were on the two chartered buses that left Lubbock last Wednesday, April 21. They spent Wednesday night in Austin enroute an Saturday came back to San Antonio where they viewed the last parade of the "Fiesta" and visited the missions.

At Galveston the main feature of the meeting was: Discussion of "Family Living is Fun" by Dr. Harry E. Moore and his wife Dr. Bernice Moore. "Families are fun if everybody does his share of work and gets his share of benefits," they said. Dr. Harry Moore is associate professor of sociology at the University of Texas at Austin. His wife is consultant for home and family relations of the home-making division, State Board of Vocational Education and the Hogg Foundation for Mental Hygiene.

Other important business of the session was election of state officers; Ruth Vinn of Temple was elected president—Ruth was born in Russia and has been in the U. S. for five years. She has had her citizenship papers only 32 days.

Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Lee announce the approaching wedding of their daughter, Betty Jo, to Lowell Field Saturday, May 1, at 6:30 o'clock p. m. in the Calvary Baptist Church at Hamlin.

Mrs. Joe McCrary Hosts Gift Tea for Jones Thursday

Mrs. Joe McCrary hosted a gift tea, Thursday, April 15, honoring Sue Jones, bride elect of Billie Reynolds. She was assisted by Mrs. W. H. Murphree, Mrs. Bertie Stephenson, Mrs. Thoman of Rotan and Miss Maggie May Seymour.

Mrs. Frank Waggoner greeted guests on arrival and others in the receiving line were: Mrs. McCrary, Sue Jones, Mrs. Don Jones and Mrs. Reynolds.

Guests were directed by Mrs. W. H. Murphree into the dining room where Mrs. Bertie Stephenson and Miss Odean Murphree ladeled punch and were assisted by Wanda Jean Mayfield, Grovone Sipe, Suzanne Hudson and Sue McCrary.

Tea table was laid with a Madeira cloth, appointments were crystal. The centerpiece was an arrangement of bridal wreath and pale pinks in a silver urn. The chosen colors of the bride.

Mrs. Manny Johnson, aunt of the groom, directed guests to see the display of gifts.

Miss Roberta Reynolds presided at the bride's book, assisted by Miss Frankie McCord.

Mrs. Mary Farrow and Mrs. Joe Culbertson said goodbyes.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe McCrary had as their house guests last week: Misses Hilda Swavely, Clare Gordon, Mrs. A. Dissinger from Lebanon, Pennsylvania. The ladies drove a new DeSota down for the doctor. It was their first trip to Texas.

Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Miles attended a Convention in Archer City Monday through Wednesday. It was a convention for the Wichita Falls section of the Assembly of God.

A RIDE IN THE DARK

By LOUISE BERGSTROM

THE headlights of the blue coupe flashed on in the driveway. Joyce, who had been watching from an upstairs window, reached hurriedly for the coat lying on her bed. As she slipped into it she made a last quick survey of the room to see that she had not forgotten anything. By the door her neatly packed suitcase stood ready, and even now the room had that deserted, impersonal atmosphere a room acquires when its occupant goes away.

Her heightened emotions threw an unnatural clarity over the familiar scene. Little things she had not noticed for weeks sprang suddenly into focus. A silly little horn hanging on the dresser was a reminder of a dance Terry had taken her to while they were still in college. He had kissed her that night for the first time. The photograph stuck in the edge of the mirror: Terry with a horrible grimace pretending to clutch her throat as she knelt in supplication in the sand. That had been taken the day the gang drove out to Three Tree Point for a picnic.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again!" She shivered and drew her coat closer around her shoulders. For tonight was the end of her girlhood, the end of the careless, silly years. After tonight nothing would ever be quite the same again. Better, perhaps. Oh yes—far, far better! But not the same, ever again.

She caught her breath in a sudden panic, and for one horrible, despairing moment she thought, "I don't want to go through with it! I'm afraid!"

Then with a laughing sigh at her absurdity, she shook the mood from her and hurried out of the room without looking back.

Safely in the car with her suitcase tucked under her feet, she relaxed comfortably against the shoulder of the young man behind the steering wheel.

"Look, Terry, there's a new moon tonight. Is that a good omen, do you suppose?"

"I hope so, darling." He looked tenderly down at the delicate oval of her face, childish mop of brown curls and the small hands folded carefully in her lap.

"Oh, Joyce," he exclaimed abruptly, "don't you think we should have told your mother after all? Are you sure that you want to do it this way?"

"Hush, Terry." She patted his knee. "Let's not go into that again. It's too late, anyway. You know Mother, she thinks I'm still a baby! She wanted us to wait at least another year."

"She might be right at that," Terry replied uncertainly. "Maybe you are too young."

"Nonsense!" She shook her curls emphatically. "A girl knows when she's ready. Wasn't it lucky Mother decided to go to California when she did? Everything worked out beautifully. Now she needn't know a thing about it until it's all over."

"Darling," her voice grew pensive. "Why do you suppose it is that middle-aged people can't seem to remember what it's like to be young and in love? Don't they remember the beauty and the reckless urgency? Don't they know there has to come a time when you get to have it all and even everything is not enough?" Her voice faltered, and in the silence between them the words were like dark wings beating.

Terry reached down and took her hand in a hard grip.

"Joyce, dearest!" he whispered. They were silent then, and the moon-bathed landscape sped past as his foot pressed hard on the gas pedal. It was early spring, and the cool night air blowing in through the car window had the restless, exciting smell of new growth.

At last they were out of the country, coming into the suburbs of a town, where street lights dimmed the moon and houses stood in dark huddled rows.

Terry slowed the car, then suddenly pulled up to the curb and turned to the girl beside him. His arms went around her and his head bent down to hers.

"I love you, Joyce," he said against her soft hair. "Are you afraid of tonight?"

She thought fleetingly of the moment in her room when she said goodbye to her girlhood, but that moment was passed, swept away by the tide of new emotions.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again."

LET'S TALK ABOUT You

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

The Secret of Good Habits

Because you have been warned so many times against breaking habits, you may have jumped to the conclusion that all habits are bad. But they aren't. I think the number of good habits is greater than the number of bad habits.

You may be astonished when I tell you that being more effective and successful in your life is largely a matter of habit. What I mean is that clever and successful people have formed helpful habits of thinking and doing, while neurotic and unsuccessful people have the wrong kind of habits. That is the chief difference between them.

Look at a habit in this way and you will see what I mean. What is habit except doing—or thinking—the same thing often enough until doing or thinking it becomes automatic, and you do every customary act in the same way. Such action is called "habitual action." When you think the same thoughts often enough until they have become thoughts that come and go without your bidding, really without your control, you are doing habitual or habituated thinking.

Now, the secret of winning the right kind of personality and place in life is simply to determine a pattern of thoughts that you want to have, and then to think those thoughts and keep on thinking them long enough until thinking them becomes a habit.

Let's say that at the present time you are willy-nilly about everything you do. You can't make up your mind. You waver. You postpone. You can't make decisions.

Those things are a sign of faulty thought habits.

Decide that for one week you will act decisively, even if wrongly, in little things. During that week act, live, carry yourself like a person of resolute habits.

Maybe one week's experiment isn't going to be long enough to overthrow the faulty thought habits of a lifetime, but it will help. It will be long enough to put you on the road to right thinking and to right habits.

Dig deeply enough into the way the person you admire the most lives, and you probably will find that he is controlled by a series of habits—right habits. The sum total of those habits is what gives him his personality, his attractiveness. The sum total of good habits in your life will do just as much for you.

New Army Technique Aids Plane Survivors

GOOSE BAY, LABRADOR. — A new technique for rescuing survivors of plane crashes in the frozen Labrador wastelands by pin-pointing dog-led teams by parachute has been developed by the air transport command.

The newly developed operation "dogsled" will save precious hours for plane crash survivors exposed to the bitter cold and possibly suffering from injuries received when their craft plunged earthward.

Conceived by Sgt. George E. Abbott, Norfolk, Va., the unusual rescue operation is especially valuable because some areas of the woody terrain in Labrador are so dense that helicopters cannot land.

Huskies, sleds and para-doctors jump from C-47's via the silk chute route and gather together at a focal point where the dog teams are assembled. Then the unit proceeds to the scene of the crash where it administers first aid, evacuates the seriously wounded and provides food.

The entire procedure lasts only a few minutes, contrasting sharply with the hours and days that it has taken overland rescue teams to reach some crash scenes in the past.

Twins Are Identical, Even to Toothaches

Six-year-old Janice and Jeanette Washburn of Mattapoisett, Mass., are identical twins—painfully identical.

When they reported to the school dentist, Dr. George M. Teasdale, with toothaches in corresponding molars, Dr. Teasdale insisted he never before had heard of such a coincidence.

To their mother, however, it was an old story. The twins lost the same corresponding first baby teeth on the same day. Similar circumstances also surrounded the loss of their second teeth.

MANY queries have been thrown our way concerning the pennant race that is just starting. The two questions that come up most frequently are:

NO. 1: Who are the outstanding stars you have seen?

NO. 2: Who are the leading rookies who might make a difference in a pennant race? (Note—this refers only in the Florida sector.)

Here are listed the outstanding pitchers we have seen — Ewell Blackwell, the six-foot five-inch anaconda or python with the Cincinnati Reds who will throttle many a hitter this season. Blackwell, with any sort of team support, will win 25 games—even with the Reds. He is baseball's star pitcher.

Hal Newhouse of the Tigers is another 25-game winner with a second-grade infield and only a fair outfield behind him. Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain of the Braves, Murry Dickson of the Cardinals and Joe Dobson of the Red Sox also are near the top.

We would like to see Blackwell and Newhouse with the Red Sox or the Yankees. Both could pass the 30-game mark.

BEST INFELDERS — Few real standouts. No top first basemen, barring Musial; Kell of Tigers, the best at third. Many good shortstops.

BEST OUTFELDERS — Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Country Slaughter, the game's tops. Cliff Mapes of the Yankees and Sam Mele of the Red Sox are high grade, but they are not of the reigning trio's caliber.

BEST ROOKIES — Curt Simmons of the Phillies, Leland Brissie of the Athletics (two sure stars—an 18-year-old kid and a badly wounded war veteran); Stalcup, Reds' shortstop; Alvin Dark, Braves' shortstop; Al Papai, Cardinal pitcher, and Hank Sauer, Reds' outfielder.

You'll hear more about these later on. They are ballplayers. These are the ones that Bucky Harris of the Yankees and Eddie Dyer of the Cardinals recommend.

Harris is game enough to state openly that his Yankees and Eddie Dyer's Cardinals will be in the next world series.

"I think it will be that way," Harris tells you. "Why not say so? Certainly we can run second or third. So can the Cardinals. I just don't think we will. I think both teams will have too much pitching. Between us, we have from 18 to 20 good starting pitchers. That should be enough."

Attendance Figures

There is always an added interest in the number of people who have time and interest enough and cash enough to attend ball games.

The 1947 season broke all past records for total attendance. The teams at home that passed the million mark were these:

American league: New York, 2,178,937; Detroit, 1,398,093; Cleveland, 1,521,978, and Boston 1,427,315.

National league: Brooklyn, 1,897,596; New York, 1,599,784, and Chicago, 1,364,039. Boston, Pittsburgh and St. Louis were all over the million mark.

Only the Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phillies failed to reach or crack the one million mark in the National league. Maybe Red rooters were dreaming of the hour. That many should have gone out to see Blackwell. He was worth it.

But about 1948? Attendance in the Citrus circuit has been well above any past year. St. Petersburg has cracked all past records.

Lang field should slide by the 65,000 mark. Tampa has known a big spring. These are the top spots.

Surplus Weight

It will be only a short while before Joe Louis is back home again, all set to start his training for the June show with Jersey Joe Walcott.

Despite what you hear, Louis must take off at least 30 pounds to be in first-class condition again and, at the age of 34, you don't shed 30 pounds in any rush. The flesh hangs on with rare persistence and doesn't care to be shaken loose.

Back in December, Louis had lost all semblance of speed. He had lost all speed of foot and speed of hands. At one time he had as fast a pair of hands as anyone would care to see. He was a rattlesnake in bronze. Against Walcott, he could set nothing in motion but his dreams of yesterday.

Louis left for England much fatter than he was against Walcott. In a recently-posed picture, he even made Tommy Farr look slender.

He is going to crowd it all in a few weeks—the preparation needed to get keen and sharp again, something approaching the Louis that used to be. He could never even come close to that. Time and the passing years have taken care of this problem—that, plus surplus weight.

The factor that worked so roughly against Louis is that for five years after the war came along, he had only two unimportant fights against Conn and Mauriello. The first was no contest and the second was a one-round flare-up.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Live Up the 'Dead' Forties

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features

Little trips like this may well come to be the habit as well as the delight of your lives.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"To put the whole thing simply," writes a woman from Kansas City, "my husband is tired of me. In every possible way he shows it, and I am wearing myself out wondering why. I'm just the same as I always was, our children and our home are just as pleasant, we have no money worries, in fact, the death of a wealthy aunt a year ago has given us a comfortable feeling that in the future we can do anything in reason for our boys and our girl."

"For months now, however, Paul has been rude to me. Smiling in a superior way if I express an opinion, giving an exclamation of impatience if I ask him to hand me a book or close the door, sneering at my friends, yawning elaborately if I take him to a picture, play or concert, and openly expressing before the children, who are 12, 14 and 17, his contempt for 'Mother's notions.'"

"Over and over again," the letter continues, "my eyes fill with tears, and I go about for hours with a hurt feeling in my heart. I know there isn't another woman, I know Paul would be horrified at the idea of a divorce, but his superior, scornful attitude is hard to bear. If I appeal to him he rises quietly and takes himself and his newspapers to some other room."

"Have you any suggestions as to the curing of a man's bad manners? I will be 40 next year, the prospect of the years ahead is a very terrifying one, with my companion a person who obviously is bored and impatient with every phase of my character and my interests. Paul has not kissed me for months. He has made me no more generous allowance because of his legacy. He says he wants to leave that intact because we 'may need it some day.' I never have been extravagant, but of course I would like the feeling that certain luxuries were now in reach. Once I hinted this, and was ungraciously asked what on earth I wanted now?"

"We always have been considered a devoted couple. Can you give me any reason why a man should change so completely, and like to hurt the person supposedly nearest to him?"

My dear Josette, I say in answer, there really is a reason for this, and although it is not a very good one, it is potent in many a case beside your own. Paul has been a good steady man for all his 43 years. He has been self-respecting, responsible, admired. He has worked hard to succeed in profession, home, society. He has been priding himself on sons and daughter, good wife, security, reputation.

Now he realizes suddenly that the forties are not like the thirties. In the thirties a couple is still on the young side, children not out of the nursery, college days still close in memory, dancing and downtown parties still in the picture.

The forties change that. To his consternation Paul realizes that—by George, the next thing is the fifties! He can't believe it. He'll be a grandfather first thing you know, and he'll still be tied to the same old Josette, with the little weaknesses and the tiresome traits he knows so well.

"Paul has been rude to me..."

BORED HUSBAND

A man who has lived with his wife and family for nearly 20 years reaches a saturation point at which he resents the rut into which he has fallen. Consciously or unconsciously he harbors ill feeling against his loved ones.

Miss Norris advises that it is a woman's task to inspire a zest for life within her husband when he reaches the doldrums of the forties. She can accomplish this by pervading enthusiasm for travel, vacationing, adventure.

Her husband will be gripped by her fever for excitement and they will experience delights which they thought were impossible in the 'dead' forties.

In Paul's case there has been another potent factor, too. That legacy, those thousands, they're to be saved and spent on the kids' schooling, are they? No adventure for him, no freedom, just the routine of office and club and home; just getting older.

The psychopathic discomfort of this time is recognized quickly enough in women, but it is by no means confined to one sex. It is a little premature death, it is a wind from an unknown country, blowing coldly across one's dream that youth isn't quite gone, adventure, new loves, new scenes, may be close ahead.

Paul doesn't really want anyone but you. He isn't fool enough to think that any pretty 18-year-old who would break up his home and deprive him of his children, would be worth bothering about. He knows all about that bald spot on the top of his head and that extra girth.

But he desperately wants excitement, change and spoiling. Your reproaching him, your tears, will get you nowhere.

But get one or two smart traveling outfits, and plan to drive to Canada, Mexico or California next month. Persuade him that home, office, children can very well spare you both for six weeks. Convince him by your own enthusiasm that this matter of sacrificing everything to the children's future needs is all nonsense.

You will find in your companion upon unknown roads and in little wayside inns the joyous young Paul you haven't known for some time. That you look pretty and feel adventurous and want to go off just with him alone will work miracles for his hurt vanity. He has been jealous, he has been feeling unimportant, he has been wondering what's the use of this extra money. Little trips like this may well come to be the habit as well as the delight of your lives.

It is part of our great American tragedy of divorce that hundreds of lost marriages could be saved if men and women could learn to rediscover, when years have worn away the fine edge of their relationship, the joy of being alone together again.

Sea Serpent Story

BOSTON.—A "sea serpent" reported seen by 200 witnesses off Nahant August, 16, 1819, really may have been such a monster, perhaps the last of the species, the marine historian Edward Rowe Snow believes.

Records show that James Prince, marshal of Massachusetts, who viewed the monster through a spyglass, estimated it to be about 60 feet long. He said the serpent traveled like a caterpillar.

Easily Built Children's Giraffe's Neck Slide

Do you feel tired, jittery, in need of a vacation? If the news on the front page starts to get you down, it's time to relax. You'll be agreeably surprised to see how far away from the worries of the world you can get by working with wood. Sawing wood and then putting the pieces together has tremendous therapeutic values. It's a grand way to keep yourself completely occupied while accomplishing something worth while.

Building this slide from the pattern isn't at all difficult. All you do is cut each part according to the pattern. Then fasten each piece together exactly in position indicated on the printed paper pattern. No special tools or skill are required. The pattern specifies materials to buy and where to use each piece. All lumber is stock size and readily obtainable at lumber yards everywhere.

Send 50 cents for Slide Pattern No. 63 to East-Build Pattern Company, Dept. W, Pleasantville, N. Y.

Harsh Laxatives are NOT necessary for most people

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination. No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C; supply valuable amounts of B<sub>1</sub> and P. They alkalize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days. USE CALIFORNIA SUNKIST LEMONS

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination. Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

To a Sorrowing One

Grace Noll Crowell

RATHER than any priceless gift today I would bring you comfort if I could.

If there be any word that I might say To ease your aching heart, dear friend, I would Be glad to speak that word, be glad to bring Its magic solace for your comforting.

But well I know that silence is a part Of sympathy—so great a part, indeed, That in this first dark moment when your heart Is torn with shock, silence will meet your need

Better than words . . . but let me clasp your hand, (And by that touch say, "Friend, I understand.")

Mrs. Tarlton Willingham Hosts Woman's Literary Club Last Friday; Officers Installed

Mrs. Clyde Angel was installed as the new president of the Woman's Literary Club's last meeting of the year when Mrs. Tarlton Willingham conducted the installation services.

Tea was held last Friday at the country home of Mrs. Willingham, retiring president.

In the business session, Mrs. R. D. Moore, club treasurer, gave a financial report for the entire year and Mrs. John D. Ferguson, sponsor for the Junior Literary Club, gave a report of Junior Club work.

Reports of the meeting of the First District of Texas Federated Clubs which convened in Breckenridge April 15-16 were given by Mrs. Angel, delegate and Mrs. O. D. Roland.

Mrs. Willingham gave her farewell address and installed the following officers to serve with Mrs. Angel.

Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, first vice-president; Mrs. O. D. Roland, second vice president; Mrs. Fred B. Moore Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. A. G. Irwin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Howard Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Bowen Pope, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. C. Weir, critic; Mrs. J. W. McCrary, musician; Mrs. John F. Green Jr., reporter and Mrs. H. O. Cassie, librarian.

For the occasion the reception rooms were attractively decorated with roses and other Spring flowers.

Mrs. Roland, Mrs. Weir and Mrs. King assisted Mrs. Willingham in serving during the tea hour.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Slaughter and daughter have moved from Talpa to take over the management of the Wilson Produce business.

Mrs. R. Y. Barrow is in McAlester, Oklahoma visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Townley and son, Eddy, of Denver City visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Beard and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Townley.

Are YOU Going Through CHANGE of LIFE?

causing you to suffer from HOT FLUSHES?

Does the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women (38-52 yrs.) make you suffer from hot flushes, feel so nervous, high-strung, irritable, weak? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this!

Taken regularly — Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such "middle-age" distress. It's what Doctors call a uterine sedative. It positively contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. Pinkham's Compound helps nature (you know what we mean). It's also a great stomachic tonic! Any drugstore.

Mrs. Tom Teague Returns From Dallas Corsetry School

Mrs. Tom Teague may now sign her name with G. C. (graduate corsetiere, to you). She has just returned from an extensive study at the Gossard School of Corsetry, recently held in Dallas. She is justly proud of her Gossard diploma, which is won only by passing the written examinations an anatomy, female; figure analysis, merchandising, advertising and promotion. She feels that one of the most outstanding strides forward in the corset industry is the development of figure type garments. Foundation garments are designed in the wide variety of sizes for seven basic figure types. This makes it possible for every woman to have a custom type fit garment without paying custom-made prices.

H. W. Gossard Company, corset company, that pioneered corsetry training for the last 50 years, began its annual training school in Dallas Monday, April 19.

A special feature Tuesday was a talk by Norman Freeman of Titcher Goettinger. Mrs. Margaret Evans of A. Harris explained the function of advertisements, Wednesday morning. Connie Baughman, fashionist of A. Harris, was commentator at the preview of Fall fashions Wednesday afternoon.

Thomas Ferguson of Hamlin sold 31 mixed cattle to $21.50 at the Abilene Livestock Auction Company last Thursday.

ASK ME ANOTHER?

A General Quiz

THE QUESTIONS

1. Do all deer shed their horns every year?
2. Why aren't the keys on the typewriter listed alphabetically?
3. Does garlic have food value?
4. Are there more golfers or bowlers in this country?
5. Why are tons of colored comic sheets shipped to trading posts in the jungles of Africa?

THE ANSWERS

1. Yes. Male deer lose their horns in the spring of the year, but sometimes they shed them at another time.
2. The originator of the typewriter keyboard tried to arrange the letters in a manner that would make for the greatest ease of operation. He was a printer and placed them as in a printer's type case.
3. Just a trace of Vitamin C.
4. Three million golfers; fifteen million bowlers.
5. Natives won't buy things wrapped in other paper.

Texas Farm Income Falls 42% From January to February Report Shows

Hamlin area and other Texas farm income fell 42 per cent from January to February according to a report to The Herald early this week from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Total farm income in February was $131,998,000, as all farm products except fruits and vegetables brought lower receipts than a month earlier.

Milk products, totaling $9,798,000 were the greatest source of farm income in February. Cattle sales were $7,847,000 and fruits and vegetables, $7,538,000.

Increased fruit and vegetable marketings pushed farm income above January levels in the South Texas Plains and Lower Rio Grande Valley Districts. Decreases ranged from 4 per cent in the Coastal Prairies to 76 per cent in the Southern High Plains District.

Highest February income was reported by the Lower Rio Grande Valley District, $9,938,000. Black and Grand Prairies was second, at $8,220,000; and Northern High Plains, third, $7,663,000. Although the Trans-Pecos District turned in the lowest February farm cash income it showed a 31 per cent gain above a year earlier.

Compared to February 1947, the farm cash income slid 16 per cent. February-to-February changes varied from a 31 per cent gain in the Trans-Pecos District to a 38 per cent fall on the Red Bed Plains District. Generally, cotton and grain products brought Texas farmers more money than in February 1947, but livestock sales were less.

Bureau's seasonally-adjusted index was 228 in February, 299 in January, 488 in December and 275 in February 1947.

Health Officer Says Dogs Vital to Health Attention to Rabid

Recent death of a child in South Texas from rabies emphasizes the danger of this disease and its importance to public health.

According to a statement just released to The Herald by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, there were 1,099 rabid animals discovered by laboratory examination in Texas last year. There were undoubtedly many more rabid animals running loose which were never examined. Since most of these animals were dogs, children are especially vulnerable to this dreaded disease, Jones County people were reminded.

"All dogs should be vaccinated annually as a rabies control measure," Dr. Cox said. "When a child is bitten by an infected dog, the dog should be penned up for observation for 10 days. If he shows no signs of illness in that time he is not rabid, but if he sickens, he should be killed in such a manner as not to injure the brain. The brain should be packed immediately in ice and sent to the State Health Department for examination. If rabies is shown to be present there is still time to begin anti-rabies treatment on the child."

Hamlin and other cities and towns should take firm steps to control the presence of stray and ownerless dogs, Dr. Cox advises, since they remain unvaccinated and are usually the principal source of rabies.

Jones County Car Registration 16% Higher Last Year

According to figures released by Elzy Bennett, Jones County tax assessor-collector at Anson late last week, motor vehicle registration for Jones County was approximately 16 per cent higher in 1948 than in 1947.

Total number of issued licenses through Saturday, April 3, was 6,833, roughly 1,100 more than in the preceding year.

"A few more dealer licenses have been issued this year than in the past," Bennett stated, "but most of the increase has been in passenger vehicle registration."

"Total number registered has been even higher than what we expected and will probably reach 7,000 by the time all late registrants are accounted for," he concluded.

Attorney General to Speak at Abilene

Hamlinites are again reminded this week that Attorney General Price Daniel has accepted two speaking engagements in Abilene May 14 and 15 and will visit other West Texas cities on the trip, according to a office report to The Herald.

He will speak to the West Texas

County Judges and Commissioners Association, their annual meeting May 15 and will speak May 14 to the Abilene Rotary Club.

Both speeches will stress the need for active participation in local and state governments, in order to preserve our Democratic ideals of local self-government at home and make the plan attractive to other nations of the World.

He will also outline some of the duties and responsibilities of the Attorney General, including the successful handling of over 1,000 law suits by his office on behalf of the State during the past year.

Miss Wanda Carter of Sweetwater visited her grandmother, Mrs. Rosie Embrey, Sunday.

TRUE STORIES OF WEST TEXAS

"AN INCIDENT AT DOAN'S STORE, 1878"

A look of shocked surprise flooded Lide Doan's face as she glimpsed their fast disappearing horses. They were being driven by an Indian rider and as she realized the significance of this, her lips loosened in fear.

This was the spring of 1878 and the Indian, located just across the Red River on their Comanche-Kiowa reservation, were evidently on the prowl again. And with the horses gone, she knew herself and the children to be completely at the Indians' mercy.

The children! Quickly Lide hurried toward the creek where she had sent them to gather wood and cowchips for her baking. Her husband, Corwin Doan, was away for the day, hunting, there had been no previous hint of Indian trouble.

As Lide barricaded her little group within the house and made preparations for a long, grueling day, her mind was nimbly trying to ferret out every possible explanation for the Indians' behavior.

She Expected More.

Theater Manager—"What's the matter with the leading lady?"

Actor—"She only got nine bouquets of flowers last night."

Manager—"Good heavens, isn't that enough?"

Actor—"Nope, she paid for 10."

She knew that they had long ago accepted the Doans as trusted nor had this trust been violated.

"Perhaps Corwin banked too heavily on this understanding," she decided, "and forgot that they were Indians—and Plains Indians, at that."

When Corwin returned around sundown, he decided that their only chance of survival lay in strategy. The attack must not take place.

The evening's chores were piled as usual save that an extra amount of fuel was gathered. Soon wreaths of smoke rose high as if in welcome to expected guests. Buffalo hunters were known to be in that vicinity, and a visit from them would not be at all unusual. And to an Indian, a buffalo hunter, with its deadly marksmanship and long range 50 caliber gun, was a person to be avoided. And so Corwin and Lide remembered the disappearing horses and acted on their premonitions rather than the past friendship of the Indians. They prepared for imaginary company with a lustrous zest.

But as soon as the night had settled, the five Doans left the house to carry on its pretense alone while they crept stealthily toward a grove of trees growing on the river's bank half a mile away.

At daybreak, they trudged sleepily back to the house, ashamed of their suspicions of those who had always proven friendly to them.

But at noon a scouting party of soldiers arrived with their stolen

Stock Shipments Off 42% Month Average; 63% for Year Ago

Livestock shipments from Texas stations dropped 42 per cent from January to February, according to a report to The Herald from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research early this week.

Shipments of livestock totaled 5,086 carloads in February or 58 per cent below a year earlier.

All livestock shipments were substantially lower in February from the previous month. Shipments of calves fell 53 per cent from January; sheep, 46 per cent; cattle, 41 per cent and hogs, 20 per cent.

Compared with February 1947, all livestock shipments were down. Greatest decrease occurred in the shipments of cattle were 63 per cent sheep shipments—72 per cent, and hogs—72 per cent, under a year earlier.

horses, an da bit of news. The Indians had been captured but not in time to prevent several atrocities. Two boys from down State had been attacked in camp, one killed outright and the other scalped and left to die.

Lide recalled them, they had spent the night with them, two days before. Jauntily they had ridden away, flaunting their new Stetsons and thrilled with adventure.

"The Indians mentioned that you had company last night, some buffalo hunters," the soldiers casually remarked. Quickly Lide and Corwin glanced at each other and read the other's thoughts, their premonitions had been correct after all and only thus had they been spared.

West Texas Utilities Asks for $5,000,000 Bonds for Betterment

Hamlin residents were informed by the West Texas Utilities Company this week, that it had filed application with the Securities and Exchange Commission of Washington, D. C., for permission to issue and sell $5,000,000, principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds, Series B. It is proposed that the bonds which will be dated March 1 and will mature in 1978 will be sold by competitive bids.

On announcing the filing of the application, Price Campbell, president of the Company, said, "Growth of the area served by the West Texas Utilities Company has been phenomenal, but we think the greatest growth of West Texas is still ahead. The proceeds of the proposed bonds will provide a portion of the cash required to pay for additional generating capacity and other facilities for supplying the electric service necessary for the industrial and agricultural growth of West Texas."

Proposed $5,000,000 bond issue is one phase of an $18,000,000 construction program, it was pointed out. This huge construction program which is to be completed within the next four years, calls for installation of additional generating units, construction and rebuilding of major transmission lines extension of rural lines and the enlarging of various other existing inter-connections and power loop facilities. Through a system of services, additional power will be provided from main generating stations. In most instances, power will be available to communities from two or more sources Campbell concluded.

If Social Calendar Is Busy, Make Your Glamour Clothes

By Ertta Haley

GIRLS who are getting out of school invariably find their social calendars full to overflowing these days and this calls for rather a sizable investment in what they refer to as glamour togs.

No average family budget can stand the strain of this because there is necessarily an outlay for clothing for other members of the family. But if mother and daughter take to the needle or sewing machine, they can turn out two or three formal dresses that will do the trick.

A formal may look especially tricky but for those of you who never have sewed one, the news is a wonderful surprise. It's much easier than you think.

First of all, the fabrics you choose are among the easiest to sew. Organdie, eyelet and even tulle just all seem to go where you want them to while you run them on the machine or let the needle traverse the pencilled or basted lines.

If you are inexperienced, choose one of the simpler designs and ask someone who knows whether the material you are working with will let itself be readily molded into something beautiful under your inexperienced fingers.

Stay away from severe fitted dresses that look deceptively easy. They require a fitting skill that demands years of experience.

Don't Let Full Skirts Or Ruffles Trouble You

If full skirts and ruffles look tough to tackle, relax. Full skirts are easy, as you'll undoubtedly see when you run a basting stitch through the material and try to gather it.

Ruffles are easy, too, and if you have a ruffler attachment on the sewing machine, these are true simplicity. If you're the sweet feminine

Glamour Frock

With commencement parties and dances ahead, you'll want variety in glamour clothes. You can solve the problem by taking to your sewing machine and avoid running into budget difficulties. The above dress is a nice style for gayhearted occasions. It's a demure full-skirted dress of crisp, white eyelet embroidered cotton.

the hemline with a similar treatment.

The slip worn under it may be of taffeta or rayon to match.

The slip does not have to be as full as the skirt, but it must be of closely woven heavy material.

Select Simple Trimming For Formal Dress

There is a variety of trimmings to use for dressy dresses and there are several types practical for home sewing.

Applique is one of them, and if you can stitch neatly, there is nothing nicer for a bouffant frock of organdie. Use flowers that will go well with the color of your frock and use them on the wide, full skirt.

If you like shirring, this may be done on the gathering foot or ruffler attachment. Finger your material, and be assured first whether it will hang well, whether it will be limp or bouffant before you actually start the work.

Bows, of course, may be used on youthful frocks and are very effective. Finished ribbon, carefully tied and tacked, can lend a dramatic air to a bouffant frock.

If you have chosen one of the ankle length frocks, a full taffeta slip with a ruffled edging peeking underneath it is all the fashion interest you actually need. Ribbons are being used, run through eyelet on slip trimmings to give them an old fashioned air.

Your wrap may be a short coat in one of the lovely pastels. When you select it, make certain it will be of good daytime use.

WHITE'S THE THING

It's a white blouse season, but if you think all of them are trimmed with ruffles, look again. There are distinctly tailored blouses in sleek fabrics such as poplin, broadcloth and linen. You'll see sleeve fullness, gathered close at the wrist, dolman sleeves, standing collars or none at all.

Be Smart!

Watch those dolman-type sleeves in many variations and degrees of depth and fullness, a pretty counter-balance to wide skirts. These sleeves are particularly effective in bright lightweight wools and spun rayons.

SCRIPTURE: Nehemiah 1-7.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 122: 1-9.

Nehemiah Rebuilds Jerusalem

Lesson for May 2, 1948

BORN and reared in Persia, Nehemiah appears in the opening scene of his prophecy as cup bearer to King Artaxerxes in the royal palace at Shushan. He was a favorite at court, due, no doubt, to his personality and training, plus a keen desire to serve his people. He obtained a royal order from Artaxerxes, granting him passage to Jerusalem. It was a long and dangerous journey, but Nehemiah travelled not only with letters from the king, but assurance in his heart that he was on the Lord's mission. He was given authority to seek help from other nations. Just how much help he received from other nations is not definitely certified, but we do know that he achieved the high purpose which God had put in his heart. He governed the city wisely for a dozen years, and wrought many notable reforms. Read the first seven chapters of Nehemiah for the complete story. Read also Psalms 122:1-9.

WHEN FRIENDS WORK TOGETHER

UPON arrival in Jerusalem, Nehemiah made a tour of the city by night. He was shocked and amazed at the ruins. He called upon the people to come and help rebuild the walls. And they were impressed with the earnestness and sincerity and courage of his call. "So built we the wall; and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof; for the people had a mind to work," Nehemiah 4:6.

There is work for everyone who is of a willing mind. There is work in the home. Boys and girls who pitch in and share in the everyday work of the home make glad the hearts of their parents, and at the same time they are learning how to care for their own homes when they grow up.

STRENGTH AND ENCOURAGEMENT

NEHEMIAH set the people together in families, with tools for work and weapons for defense against the enemy. And in this union of numbers there was both strength and courage. We need today to learn anew this lesson of working together. So often we witness evidence of people pulling against one another. We see it in the home and in the school and in the wider areas of life—in politics and in the clash between capital and labor.

THOSE WHO OPPOSED NEHEMIAH

OUR lesson describes not only the courage and wisdom of Nehemiah in getting the Jews to work and work together, but it tells us about those who opposed the rebuilding of Jerusalem. Sanballat was the governor of Samaria, and when he heard that Nehemiah was rebuilding Jerusalem, he put in to defeat him by many schemes of sabotage.

He began with ridicule. "What do these feeble Jews?" he scoffingly asked. Ridicule is always one of the weapons of those who would tear down and destroy. Young people will do well to guard themselves against the snare of cynicism. It is a dangerous thing, Sanballat and his cohorts, Tobiah, and certain Arabians and Ammonites and Ashdodites, conspired to hinder Nehemiah in many devious attacks; but the people worked and fought, in the name of the Lord.

WHAT MAKES A REAL LEADER?

THIS is the question which will inevitably arise as we study this lesson. How could one man inspire people to undertake the impossible? First, Nehemiah relied implicitly upon God's help. Second, he threw himself into the task, fearlessly and intelligently. Third, he possessed the quality of inspiring faith and hope in others. These are the qualities that make a real leader, anywhere, any time.

How we do need such leaders today! And the Bible speaks to us, in the story of Nehemiah, reminding us how real leaders are produced. Read the 122nd Psalm. Here is the secret of it all—"They shall prosper that love thee." Every difficulty confronting the home, the community, the nation, the world, can be met and mastered, provided we tackle it in the name of the Lord, relying upon his wisdom, his strength, his poise.

It's Easy to Make Strawberry Shortcake

(See recipes below)

Strawberry Time

For those of you who like strawberries, the season is too short! But we aim to do our best by them this season, so let's have them several times each week as long as we can.

Perfect strawberries are just plain good served au naturel. And if you like them sweeter, dip each in a mound of powdered sugar, before tasting its deliciousness. Some like them for breakfast with a sprinkling of sugar and a quaint pitcher of thick country cream.

Strawberries in shortcake make a dream of a dessert. Some prefer old fashioned biscuit type of shortcake, split and covered with sweetened crushed berries and cream. Others prefer a more cake-like type of accompaniment to the berries.

*Strawberry Shortcake (Serves 6)

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons shortening
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup milk
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 tablespoon soft butter
1 quart strawberries, sliced and sugared

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together; cut shortening into mixture with two knives or pastry blender until mixture is the consistency of corn meal.

Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, mixing quickly to form a soft dough.

Drop the dough by spoonfuls into a well greased two quart heat resistant glass utility dish. Sprinkle each biscuit with grated orange peel. Bake in a hot (450 degree) oven for 12 minutes. Split hot biscuits and spread with soft butter. Place the sweetened strawberries between and on top of each biscuit. Serve a pitcher of cream with the shortcake if desired.

Fresh Strawberry Pie

1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 quart strawberries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch or flour
Sweetened whipped cream

Crush half the berries and bring to boiling point. Stir in sugar combined with flour or cornstarch and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and well cooked. Spread other half of berries (whole) in baked pie shell. Pour hot cooked filling over top, cool, top with sweetened whipped cream and serve. Meringue may be used instead of whipped cream and pie browned in a moderate (350 degree) oven.

Special Strawberry Shortcake

2 cups sifted all-purpose enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
4 tablespoons shortening
2 eggs
1/2 cup orange juice
1/4 teaspoon lemon extract

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut in shortening. Beat one whole egg and one egg yolk, reserving one white for the tops. Add orange juice and flavoring to beaten eggs, then add to dry ingredients. Stir only enough to make dough hold together. Turn out on lightly floured board, and knead a half minute. Roll out 1/2 inch thick. Cut. Brush tops with

LYNN SAYS: These Cookery Tips Give Desired Results

If ham is to be stored for any length of time, rub outside thoroughly with fat so that mold will not form on the lean part.

Place bacon in a cold pan and use a low flame for cooking. Pour off excess fat as it cooks.

For cutting meat or fish for salads, use a scissors instead of a knife. Marinate in French dressing before mixing to give flavor.

white of egg and sprinkle with sugar. Bake on ungreased baking sheet for 12 minutes in 425 degree preheated oven. Split hot shortcakes, butter and fill with sliced sweetened berries. Replace top and pour berries over top. Serve with cream if desired.

Strawberry Meringue Pie

1 pint fresh strawberries
3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup sugar
Few drops vanilla
Honey
Baked pie crust

Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Beat in sugar and flavor with few drops of vanilla. Drain berries carefully; sweeten with honey and fold into meringue. Turn into pie crust and brown in moderate (350 degree) oven about 30 minutes. Serve as soon as cool. (Other fresh, carefully drained fruits may be used.)

Standish Pudding (Makes 1 quart)

1 quart strawberries
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup water
Lemon juice
1/2 pint whipping cream
1/4 cup powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup rolled dried macaroons

Pick over strawberries, sprinkle with sugar and let stand for two hours. Mash, squeeze through a double thickness of cheesecloth and add water and lemon juice to taste. Turn mixture into a one quart brick mold or place in freezing tray. Beat cream until stiff and add powdered sugar, vanilla and rolled macaroons. Pour over fruit mixture to overflow mold. Cover with buttered paper and freeze in a mixture of ice and salt, or let freeze in refrigerator compartment.

Raspberry or Strawberry Whip (Serves 4)

1 1/4 cup berries
1 cup powdered sugar
1 egg white

Beat ingredients together with wire whip or electric whip until stiff enough to hold shape. Serve over pieces of sponge or angel cake or pile lightly in a dish, chill, surround with lady fingers and serve with soft custard sauce.

Luncheon Dish De Luxe

Scrambled eggs with shrimp make a delicious and satisfying luncheon dish. To prepare, saute one chopped green onion and one slice mushroom in two tablespoons margarine or butter. Let cook over a low heat three or four minutes. Add one-half cup shrimp which has been broken into small pieces, and one canned tomato. Again cook over a low heat one or two minutes. Add four eggs which have been beaten with two tablespoons cream, salt and pepper. Stir slowly over a low heat until of desired doneness. Serve on toast or crisp wafers. Sprinkle with grated spicy cheese.

Here's a filling combination, made of all vegetables: Corn pudding, creamed string beans with almonds, French fried carrots and radishes.

Do you like mushrooms? Bake them in cream, then serve along with turnip souffle, buttered string beans and sliced tomatoes.

Serve cottage cheese with assorted fruits or assorted raw vegetables like sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, with olives at the side.

Fruit pies will be better flavored if you add a dash of honey to them.

Famous St. Bernards Seek Rescue Work

Modern means of travel have rendered the famous St. Bernard Hospice in Switzerland almost unnecessary. It is to be closed after nearly 1,000 years of service. The monks and dogs will live in the Rhone Valley from now on.

Its head, Prior Lucien Gailloud, has explained that the hospice is not to be abandoned completely. Four dogs will stay for rescue work. Some time ago several dogs were sent to Tibet to establish in the mountains a branch of the Great St. Bernard Hospice. The kennels for the famous dogs are located at Martigny.

POT-SHOTS FROM McCAULLEY

By GEORGE DARDEN

One day last week the scribe decided to purchase a few baby chicks, so motored over to a near by town to look over the chick crop in a well advertised hatchery. After a look into the brooders at the dozens of dead chicks under the feet of live ones and the smell was most sickening, we decided to go other places. There is no excuse for such scenes and folks who contemplate buying healthy chicks should first look over the hatchery. Folks can be robbed without a gun. The name of the Column is "Pot-Shots."

Mr. and Mrs. John Dean left for Dallas last Saturday to see their one and only grand son who discovered America a few days ago. Grandpa John says he is already saying "Grandpa." S. E. Miers accompanied the Deans as far as Fort Worth for a visit with a daughter and family.

Several seniors of McCauley High School attended Senior Day at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene last Saturday as guests of the University.

Peggy Humphries and Margaret Darden went to the finals in tennis doubles at the tournament in Abilene last week. They were defeated in the finals by Anson who is a Class A school.

Via the grapevine we learn that all the teachers in McCauley School were reelected for another year.

High School seniors have voted to ask Rev. Temple Lewis to give the baccalaureate sermon on the night of May 21. Rev. Lewis is pastor of the Royston Baptist Church and personal friend of the late Joe Houghton who was captain of the undefeated football team of McCauley High who was killed last year in an airplane crash in McCauley.

Another car of Anchor Feeds from Bewley Mills arrived for the McCauley Supply Company last week. The feed business in the old home town is growing by leaps and bounds due to a complete line of feeds and field seeds.

Oil business is still on the up and up in this immediate vicinity and a lot of activity is expected in the near future.

W. E. Bill, Maberry from La-mesa was transacting business in McCauley last week-end.

W. J. Madden of Hamlin and former Fisher County Commissioner was in McCauley one day last week on business.

Stamps-Baxter Quartet of Dallas will give a concert at the Pledge Baptist Church on the night of 30, Friday.

Ida Red and her Radio Show will appear in McCauley at the gymnasium on May 4 sponsored by McCauley Home Demonstration Club.

Harley Sadler and his stage players have been invited to give the play "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners" in McCauley in the near future. Proceeds from same will go to the McCauley Cemetery Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Short returned last week from Gorman where they attended the funeral services of two nephews who were killed in Germany and Belgium during the last war.

McCauley and vicinity received about one quarter inch of rain on Thursday afternoon of last week. Hope more can be reported before this goes to press.

Wedding bells have been ringing and stork visits are expected in this immediate vicinity. More about that later.

We see where Mayors of cities and towns are once again proclaiming, "Clean-Up Week". It wouldn't be a bad idea for McCauley folks to do likewise. You can pretty well judge a man's business or home by the way it is kept. It doesn't hurt a thing to clean up a bit, and if the weeds and tin cans dominate our community then folks passing through our town may say; those people don't have much pride.

Alf Hemphill hopes to open his

Helpy-Selfy Laundry on or about May 1. Another business for the home town which will save housewives many miles of driving.

Two out burst of energy on the part of Fisher County candidates has thus far been noticed. Perhaps they too are waiting for a rain.

There are a lot of folks in the World with up-set stomachs but there are lot of politicians in Washington that have very weak knees.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson and children from Borger visited last Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rhoden.

Mrs. Lawrence Brewer and baby from Abilene were visitors Sunday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kean.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Galloway Jr. and sons from Dallas were week-end visitors in the home of parents, Rev. and Mrs. Dick and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Galloway Sr. Have been looking any day to see the mail jammed with W. Lee O'Daniel News but so far such is not the case. Surely "Poppy" is planning and burning the midnight oil trying to figure out just what kind of scheme to get the votes or maybe he has lost his stroke.

Hubert Carson of McCauley was elected president of the student body at McMurry College, Abilene last week. Quite an honor.

No comment on the ball game at Hamlin Sunday except the score was 23 to 14 in favor of the Hamlin Cardinals.

Guy Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kemp of McCauley and Miss Francis P. Pe of Sylvester were married last Monday, April 19, at Sylvester with the Methodist pastor officiating. Mrs. Waldon, sister of the bride was maid of honor and a nephew of the bride, James Golden Waldon, was best man in the double ring ceremony. Present at the wedding were Mrs. B. F. Kemp, mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kemp, brothers of the groom, bride's mother, Mrs. Waldon, groom, Jeff Stewart of Roby, Mrs. sister of the bride and her nephew, James Golden Waldon. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp will make their home in Midland where he is employed by the Superior Oil Company of that city.

L. V. Ptee, Perryman and Miss Dorothy Jean Hulen of Hamlin

were married last week in Sweetwater. Perryman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Perryman of McCauley and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hulen of Hamlin. The couple will make their home in Sweetwater where he is employed.

WANTS FRIENDS TO KNOW HOW RETONGA AIDED HIM

"Every Bite I Ate Seemed To Turn Against Me," States Mr. Lee McClung, Who Found Retonga to Be Everything Claimed For It. Tells of his Case.

"When I find something good, I like for my friends to know about it, and that's the way I feel about Retonga," says Mr. Lee McClung, prominent Hill County farmer who lives at 101 Smith Street, Hillsboro, Texas. He gratefully states: "Every bite of food I ate seemed to turn against me and form terrific gas pressure in my stomach. I suffered tortures from sharp, cutting pains in the pit of my stomach and at times it would seem to swell up as tight as a drum. At night it seemed to be worse and at times I thought the pressure would cut off my breath. I was on edge most of the time and I couldn't seem to get a good night's sleep. In the mornings I had to drag myself out of bed.

"I certainly found Retonga to be everything claimed for it and I'm thankful for the prompt relief it gave me. I can eat anything I want to now and not have to worry about that gas forming on my stomach. Once more I know what a good night's sleep can mean to a fellow, and I don't feel on edge like I did. I'm more than glad to recommend Retonga to anyone suffering like I did."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. You can get Retonga at WAGGONER DRUG STORE (adv.)

Strong Livestock Markets Contrast of Lower Trends on Most Farm Products

Strong livestock markets contrast with lower trends on most other farm products in the Southwest during the past week, according to report to The Herald from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Hog prices varied widely up and down but closed Monday about $2 higher, butchers at Kansas City, Denver and Wichita and $1 up at Oklahoma City and Fort Worth. Pigs ranged generally around 50 cents higher at $14 to $16 and pigs old time changed at $15 to $18 at Fort Worth. Top butchers varied from $21.25 to $22.50.

Cattle sold generally 50 cents to $1 higher for the week, though Texas markets held steady and earlings about unchanged and Houston closed steady on about all classes. Common and medium laughter steers and yearlings ranged from $19 to $25 at Houston, while medium and good grades brought $23 to $28 at Fort Worth and $24 to $28 at Oklahoma City. San Antonio paid $25.50 to $27.50 for medium light steers and Wichita gave $28.50 to $29 for good kinds. Denver took heifers to $28.50.

Spring lambs gained around 50 cents to $1 during the past week, although old crop lambs sold steady to lower and ewes remained about unchanged. Common to good spring lambs turned at $14 to $23 at San Antonio early this week, as good and choice grades brought $24 to $24.50 at Fort Worth, to $26 at Oklahoma City and Wichita and $27 at Kansas City. Denver bought medium and good woolled lots around $25.

Markets weakened further a week under seasonally heavy production and light hatchery demand. Favorable storage demand prevented even lower prices. Current egg receipts ranged from 35 to 40 cents at most Southwest terminal markets. Good demand for barely adequate supplies of poultry kept prices firm.

After showing slight strength early, grains began to fall rapidly for weekly losses of 10 to 15 cents a bushel, as timely rains improved crop prospects. No. 1 hard wheat closed Monday at $2.47 1/2 at Texas common points. No. 2 grades of white corn sold around $26.1, yellow corn $23.9 1/2, milo fell 22 cents to $3.65 to $3.70.

Millfeeds and oilseed meals sold higher, while most other feeds brought lower prices. Slow movement and slack demand featured hay markets. Trade in shelled peanuts remained slow, but peanut oil and meal strengthened. Southwest wool prices advanced sharply.

Cotton gained early but dropped later for $1.25 to $1.45 per bale losses. Spot 15-16 inch middling closed Monday at $7.65 cents a pound at Dallas, 37.10 at Houston, 37.20 at Galveston, 37.15 at New Orleans and 36.70 at Little Rock.

Rev. and Mrs. Miles Attend Assembly of God Convention

VFW and Hospital Ask for Information Of Both Wars Dead

Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Hamlin Memorial Hospital management are sponsoring the Memorial List of Hamlin area soldiers lost in World War I and II.

Names of the men will be cast on a bronze strip one inch wide and nine inches long, carrying rank, initials, name, on one line, and the year of birth and year of death on the line under the name.

This information, stated a spokesman of the organizations, must be accurate and in most cases the family of the deceased soldier must furnish it. All cost is being borne by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Hospital.

First order for name plates will be sent to New York, New York Monday, May 3 and other orders will be forwarded as the information is received.

Information may be delivered to Arlie Castle or any of the VFW in the P&M Bank or to the hospital in writing. Please assist this worthy cause.

Judging Teams Of Hamlin FFA Winning Honors

Three teams of the Vocational Agriculture boys from Hamlin High School participated in the annual FFA Judging Contest held at John Tarleton Agriculture College, April 10. Contests included Area 4 and 8, two of the largest FFA areas in Texas.

Hamlin Dairy Cattle Judge team composed of Weldon Townsend, Kenneth Holaway and Jack Willingham won first. Weldon was high point individual in the judging and Kenneth was fifth in the division.

Hamlin's Livestock Judging Team composed of Donald Young, Clifton Townsend and Alton Kite was first. Clifton was third high point man.

Hamlin's Poultry Team composed of Donald Rowland, Donald Johnson and James Brigham won 14th out of 27 teams.

Beautiful first place banners were presented by the Tarleton College for the first places won by the livestock and dairy teams.

Both the dairy and livestock teams coped in the strong Tech College contest of judging at Lubbock last Saturday winning third and fourth respectively. These teams will compete in the State FFA Judging Contest to be held at the Texas A&M College Station on this Saturday.

Bethel Cemetery to Meet Saturday Morn

Bethel Cemetery Association at Funston will meet Saturday, May 1. There will be a sermon by Rev. Frank Foster in the morning.

All attendants are asked to bring a basket lunch.

According to J. C. Fielder, president of the association, all new officers will be elected at this time.

Future Farmers of America

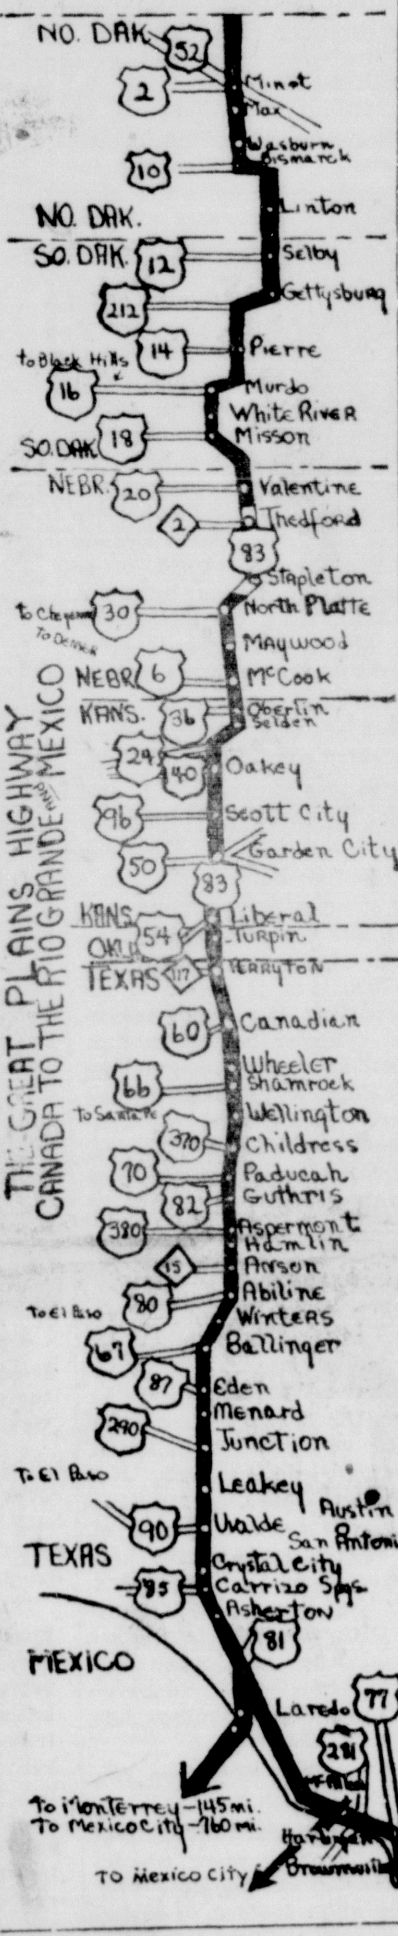

By Weldon Townsend

Letters from Hamlin for Future Farmers of America. This is a national organization of boys studying Vocational Agriculture. It was founded in November 1928 and since this date the growth of the Future Farmers of America has been steady and rapid. Today there are over 200,000 FFA boys scattered throughout the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Although boys studying Vocational Agriculture constitutes its only active membership, provision is made also for associate and honorary FFA membership. The tea-chap of Vocational Agriculture serve as local chapter advisers and State Supervisors of Agricultural Education serve as State Advisers. Boy officers for each unit of the FFA, local, State and national are elected annually.

Programs of work participated in by all members are set up annually by every chapter. These programs are built on the needs of the individual and the community. We have group thinking, cooperation and the type of work which we believe is valuable agricultural training.

Harley Sadler Speaks to Local Lions Tuesday

Lions Club heard Harley Sadler of Sweetwater at the Tuesday luncheon, and as usual, Mr. Sadler had the attention of his listeners and proved a very interesting speaker throughout his rather lengthy talk. He gave a lot of good sound advice, together with a number of witty remarks.

New officers were elected as follows: President, Stanley Carmichael; first vice-president, Jimmie Irwin; second vice-president, J. H. King; third vice-president, Clyde Angel; tall twister, Herman Treadwell; lion tamer, Arlie Castle; song leader, Herman McBride; two year directors, Travis Hash and A. Spencer. New officials will take office the first Tuesday in June.

Exams for Highway Patrol Jobs Saturday

Interested Hamlin area applicants are advised this week of the statewide preliminary examination for appointment to the Texas Highway Patrol will be given at all district offices of the Patrol Saturday, May 1, according to Captain Harry Hutchinson of the Abilene office.

Recruits obtained from this examination will enter training July 1. They will be part of the increase of 200 patrolmen authorized by the last legislature.

Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., is director of the Department of Public Safety and the Highway Department.

Man is the only animal that blanches, or has need to.

Much Interest Shown In Nazarene Revival Now In Progress

The revival now in progress at the Nazarene Church is attracting splendid crowds, and a great interest is manifest. Much spiritual good has been the result.

The meeting began April 28 and will continue on through May 9. Rev. H. D. Burson is doing the preaching and his son, Ernie is in charge of the singing.

A cordial invitation is extended to all by the pastor and the church to attend these services.

McCrarys to Have Open House Tuesday

Dr. and Mrs. Joe McCrary wish to announce that they have moved into their new home and will have an open house on Tuesday evening, May 4, from 7:00 o'clock p. m. until 10:00 o'clock p. m.

Public is cordially invited to visit.

Hamlin Lions to Sponsor Play Here May 10

Hamlin Lions Club will sponsor a play, "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners," at the Hamlin High School auditorium on the night of May 10. Harley Sadler of Sweetwater will be in the leading role, supported by a cast of business and professional men and women of Sweetwater, who have been well coached for their parts.

The play portrays just what the title implies and is a good moral lesson to the story. It has been played at several towns around Sweetwater and splendid crowds have been the result.

Receipts from the show will be used for charitable purposes.

A number of Hamlin Lions attended a one meeting in Sweetwater Tuesday night at which more than 500 attended from various towns in the district. A big supper, ranch style, was served and the entertainment offered was exceptionally good, featured by a square dance put on by the Sweetwater square dance team. Hamlin's offering to the entertainment feature were a number of songs by Lester Morton, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Morton.

District Convention will be held at the Wichita Falls Sunday and Monday and several members of the local club plan to attend.

Cub Scout Dens to Present Program, Receive Charter

Cub Scout Dens of Hamlin will present a program for all parents of Hamlin in the Elementary School auditorium Friday night (tonight) beginning at 7:45 o'clock p. m.

Mr. Paul Ireland of Abilene, district Scout Executive, will present the official charter to the pack at this meeting.

Displays of the work and play of the Cubbing will be shown in the gymnasium.

All parents whose child has an advancement or achievement must be present to present this to his son.

If any boy from the ages of nine to 12 wishes to join the Cubs, come to this meeting with one or both parents.

Public is cordially invited.

Many Attend VFW Meet at Stamford

A number from Hamlin attended the District Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars held in Stamford Sunday.

Those attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Huff, Mrs. Cleo Perryman, Mrs. Noble Watson, Mrs. J. V. Howard Jr., Lucille Scarborough and Arlie Castle. Lewis Yates was elected as District Senior Vice Commander, Mrs. Clyde Huff was elected as District Conductress and Mrs. Lewis Yates as District Chaplain in the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW.

Jones County Oil Play Shows Bright Spurt This Week With New Permits

Softball League to Open in Stamford Night of May 1

Announcement has been made that the first game in the West Texas Softball League, of which Stamford is a member, will be played at Stamford Saturday night against the Lubbock Blue Bonnets.

Weeks and Mickler will be the pitchers for Stamford, while Jackie Neil will be Lubbock's selection.

Jones County HD Clubs to Observe National Week

Home Demonstration Club women of Jones County plan to observe National Home Demonstration Week, May 2-8, by putting up educational exhibits over the county. National Week will be observed in many different ways throughout the nation, but the theme for all will be "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Invitation has been extended to those interested by Loretta Allen, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent, to see the following exhibits at the places listed.

Rugs and bedspreads—Hamlin, Bryant-Link Company by the Tuxedo Club.

Better quality eggs—Lueders, at Winkle's Store by Willow Creek Club.

Making pictures and frames—Anson Western Observer Office by Blue Bonnet Club.

Rug Making—Hodges, Hodges' Store by Hodges Club.

Making pictures and frames—Goodman, Goodman Store by the Goodman Club.

There are a few other clubs that will have exhibits but plans have not been completed. Some clubs are planning special programs and inviting other clubs as guests. New Hope Club has a special program planned for Monday.

In further observance of the Home Demonstration Week it seems fitting to look back at a few highlights of the Home Demonstration program for the past 17 years.

Miss Sue Bonner was the first agent coming to Jones County on June 1, 1931. She served as agent until February 1935. Miss Jewel Faulkner followed her and served from February 1935 to July 1936. Miss Gladys Martin followed her and stayed until November 1941. Mrs. Clara Brown Long took over the duties of the office and resigned in September 1945 and her place was filled in October by Miss Hannah Nabors who served as agent until February 1947. Her place was filled February 1, 1947 by Miss Loretta Allen who is now serving as Home Demonstration Agent.

District Agents who have served Jones County as part of their Extension District are as follows: Miss Myrtle Murray, Miss Lida Cooper, Miss Maurine Hearn and at present Miss Thelma Casey.

Following women have served in the past as chairman of the County Home Demonstration Council: Mmes. Bert Whaley, J. L. Keen, W. C. McDaniels, Loyd Sebastian, V. L. Merritt, H. P. Harvey, Dewey Ramsey, Will Myatt, C. D. Blingham, Charley Myatt and at present Mrs. Max Harvey.

Some of the demonstrations carried in previous years include the following: garden, pantry-food preservation, kitchen improvement, bedroom improvement, living room improvement, landscaping and clothing are demonstrations being carried at the present time. There are 12 clubs in the county with a total enrollment of 228 women.

Oil play around the Hamlin area this showed up brightly with several new outposts and wildcat permitted early this week.

About 30 miles southeast of Hamlin Manley Brothers of Wichita Falls has scheduled a 2,500 foot wildcat, No. 1 Ann Rutledge, 2,670 feet from the east and 1,679 feet from the south lines of section 46, block 16, T&P survey.

Block 16, 1,544 feet from the west and 330 feet from south lines of subdivision 3, A. W. Hill survey 4. This is to drill to 2,150 feet with cable tools.

A southeast outpost for a north corner test to the Bartlett Pool, King and Swastika sand area about 18 miles west of Hamlin has been filed by Ungren & Frazier of Abilene.

A southeast location is No. 2 Mattie V. Alexander, 330 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west lines of section 34, block 2, SP survey. Permit is to 3,500 feet with rotary.

A north test, to start next Wednesday, is the No. 3 H. T. Bartlett, 1,051 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east lines of section 43, block 2, SP survey.

While about 28 miles northeast of Hamlin, a northwest outpost of multiple production has been located by J. C. Hunter Jr., as the No. 4 Jesse F. Shanks, 330 feet from the east and 2,310 feet from the south lines of the north half of subdivision 13, Robert Smith survey. It's permit is to 2,400 feet with cable tools.

Early this week a new Jones County deep test to go to the Ellenburger was made about 23 miles southeast of Hamlin by the Dandger Oil & Refining Company, as the No. 1 R. L. Stephenson, 600 feet from the west and 1,209 feet from the south line of the R. L. Stephenson 517 acre tract in the M. Pragos survey. Permit is for 5,500 feet with rotary and is to begin drilling next Wednesday.

In the Bartlett Pool about 30 miles southwest of Hamlin, a location for a north extension try to the east side of the present production has been filed by the North American Oil Consolidated as the No. 1 W. M. Arnett, 330 feet from the south and east lines of the north half of section 33, block 2 SP survey. It's permit was for 4,000 feet with rotary.

While east of the Jones County line about 36 miles southeast of Hamlin the E. H. R. Sabens et al is to drill the No. 1 B. B. C. Harvey.

Plug was set on the Ellenburger early this week in preparation of further shows in the Swastika on the Fisher County wildcat, located about 26 miles south of Hamlin, the Exploration Drilling Company, No. 1 H. S. Newman, 660 feet from the south line of subdivision 274 John Rodman survey and 660 feet east of the east line of El Paso County School Lands. It topped the Ellenburger at 6,145 feet and was drilled to 6,318 feet, where water was found. No shows of oil or gas in commercial quantities was logged. Next tests are to be on the Swastika from 4,048-56 feet where a drilstem test showed some gas and oil as the well drilled.

While about 10 miles southwest of Hamlin the location for a second try for deep production from reef or Ellenburger has been filed by the General Crude Oil Company as the No. 1 N. H. Jackson et al east of the production in the Round Top Pool, 725 feet from the east and 550 feet from the most southerly south line of section 88 of block 1 H&TC survey. It is on permit for 5,000 feet with rotary.

And about nine miles southeast of Hamlin S. B. Roberts et al No. 1 P. H. Osek was drilling below 3,700 feet with no shows so far. It's permit is for Ellenburger for 6,000 feet with rotary.

Revolt Interrupts Bogota Parley; Miners Get Pension, End Walkout; GOP Aspirants in Primaries Fight

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

REVOLT: Bogota

It was a peaceful early afternoon in Bogota, Colombia, and the inter-American conference was droning along in customary style in the capitol building on the Plaza Bolivar.

Then, with the firing of four assassin's bullets into the body of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, popular leader of Colombia's Liberal party, one of the worst revolts Latin American has seen exploded into violence.

During the first afternoon Bogota descended into a state of complete anarchy. Mobs prowled the streets, burning and looting. Scores were killed. The residence of President Ospina Perez was attacked and windows were broken before army troops drove away the crowd.

Above the confused clamor of the throng could be heard shouts of "Down with the government, down with the Conservatives."

Three days later, as the riots simmered to a halt, 300 people were dead, many others injured. Downtown Bogota was a welter of destruction. Colombia had broken relations with Soviet Russia, and the inter-American conference had almost cracked up, with delegates uncertain as to whether they could continue.

On the face of it, the revolt was a sudden eruption of violent sentiment of Liberal party followers against the Conservative government in power. Immediate result was the formation of a new coalition cabinet, equally composed of Liberals and Conservatives.

Big question was how much Communists had to do with the Bogota riots.

U.S. Secretary of State George Marshall, who with other Americans in Bogota got through the riots unscathed, claimed the revolt was Communist.

"The occurrence goes beyond Colombia. It is of the same definite patterns as the occurrences which provoked strikes in France and Italy."

And the Colombian government, in severing relations with Russia, declared that a "Communist insurrection" had touched off the mob fury.

Finally, it was announced from Bogota that the inter-American conference would resume "so that Communism could not triumph over Colombia and the rest of the nations of the hemisphere."

SETTLEMENT: Coal Strike

John L. Lewis wasn't exactly in the position of a man who had asked friends out to dinner and then found he couldn't pay the check, but he was verging on some such situation.

Half a million soft coal miners started to struggle back to work after a 28-day strike when Lewis informed them that the fight for $100-a-month pensions had been won, but Lewis himself had to appear before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to answer a contempt of court charge.

Lewis was cited for contempt by Goldsborough, his 1947 nemesis, on the grounds that he ignored an April 3 court order to call off the strike.

Apart from the contempt of court citation, settlement of the coal strike was distinguished mainly by a slightly marvelous amalgam of political action and expedient compromise.

Beginning of the end came when Speaker of the House Joseph Martin (Rep., Mass.) moved into the dispute by persuading Lewis and Ezra Van Horn, a mine operator, to meet with him in his office. Martin then suggested that Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.) be named the third member of the board which administers the miners' welfare and retirement fund. (Lewis and Van Horn are the other two members.)

At a subsequent meeting of the three, Bridges proposed a plan that would give $100-a-month pensions to 62-year-old miners with 20 years of service who retired after May 28, 1946, the date on which the miners' welfare fund was set up. Bridges' plan was accepted and the strike called off.

Actually, Lewis, in approving the New Hampshire senator's proposal, had descended several notches from his original demands.

Politically, the most fascinating aspect of the affair was how Joe Martin managed to take the play away from the administration in arranging for a settlement.

EDUCATION:

Nearly half of the 5,245,000 World War II veterans who entered special education and training programs under the G.I. bill of rights have abandoned their courses. Veterans' administration says.

More than 400,000 completed their work, however—382,000 of them under the G.I. bill and the rest under the rehabilitation program for disabled veterans. Many of those that quit plan to return later, it was indicated.

On Wisconsin

In his South St. Paul home Stassen grinned with the comfortable cheer of a cat who had just swiped all the cream in Wisconsin as he sat with his wife and received reports stating that he had run off with 19 of the 27 delegates in that state's primary election.

PRIMARIES: Wisconsin

Wisconsin's presidential primary election to choose delegates to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia on June 21 was regarded, as usual, as a straw in the wind; but this year the political breeze was a shifting one.

For Harold Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota, a hard, thorough campaign waged by himself and his volunteer supporters up and down the state paid off nobly when Wisconsin voters granted him a total of 19 of the state's 27 delegates to the GOP convention.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur took the remaining eight to run a poor second, despite a flamboyant publicity drive carried out by his backers (notably the Hearst newspapers) which was built around the theory that he is "the only man equipped to deal with Russia."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York drew a complete blank in Wisconsin, where he had been the Republican favorite in 1940 and again in 1944.

As a result of the Wisconsin election, Stassen was catapulted into public consciousness as a leading contender for the Republican nomination. It was certain that his top-heavy victory there would be reflected in the other primaries to follow, and that he had gained considerable stature in the Midwest.

It was difficult to tell which of the two losers—Dewey or MacArthur—had been hit harder by his defeat. Dewey, who received no delegates, might seem to be in a position similar to that of Wendell Wilkie in 1944 when he withdrew from the GOP race after losing ignominiously in the Wisconsin primary. But the New York governor previously had beaten Stassen in the New Hampshire primary, and, also, he had the full slate of New York delegates pledged to him.

It was on MacArthur, who had claimed Wisconsin as his home state, that the axe of public disfavor appeared to have fallen with greatest force.

More To Come

From Wisconsin the election year wind swung to the plains of Nebraska where seven leading contenders in the Republican presidential race fought it out in a free-for-all match, with Stassen again emerging as the big winner.

After Nebraska the battlefield shifted to Pennsylvania and Massachusetts on April 27. A total of 103 delegates to the GOP convention was at stake.

On May 4 Harold Stassen was to carry the fight to Sen. Howard Taft's home arena, the state of Ohio. It was no secret that Taft was worried over which way his fellow Ohioans might go, and a good showing by Stassen would hamper materially Taft's White House ambitions.

In his second pitched battle with Governor Dewey (New Hampshire was the first) Stassen was slated to invade Oregon for that state's GOP primary on May 21. While results of the Oregon primary were not expected to be conclusive, they would serve to provide a first sampling of West coast opinion.

Final state presidential primary on the Republican side occurs in California on June 1. Earl Warren is unopposed as the state's favorite son for the GOP nomination.

Gasoline from Coal

Gasoline made from coal, even when it comes into general use, probably will cost more than petroleum gasoline, but at least motorists won't have to worry about shortages, a research scientist, Dr. R. W. Krebs of Baton Rouge, La., has predicted.

He estimated that coal gasoline will cost from 10 to 15 cents more a gallon than gasoline currently in use, but he added that the supply will be enough to last 1,000 years.

TREATY: Finns-Russ

Russia had what it wanted from Finland—a buffer state to the north-west.

The two nations signed a 10-year treaty of mutual assistance which binds Finland to fight within its own borders in the event either country is attacked.

Finland and Russia, stated the pact, would battle side by side to repel aggression by Germany "or another state allied with" Germany. The treaty circumspectly failed to mention any other state by name.

Despite the fact that Finland's delegation virtually had been commanded to appear at Moscow to sign a treaty with Russia, Premier Josef Stalin beamed expansively after the agreement had been concluded, hailing it as a "treaty between equals." And he said:

"I would like to see us pass from a long period of mutual distrust against each other, to a new period in our relations—to a period of mutual trust."

Actually, the Finns got a better deal from Russia than they might have hoped for. Their nation had not been forced into a tight, arbitrary military accord with the Soviets, nor had Finland lost its sovereignty although it was brought firmly into the bloc of states along Russia's exposed western flank.

ATOM BOMB: No Secret

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal put a name and a definitive edge, after a fashion, to all the restlessness postwar fears Americans have been experiencing.

He did it by announcing to the house armed services committee that Russia knows how to make the atomic bomb. More specifically, the Russians possess the knowledge of how to put the bomb together but so far do not have the industrial capacity to capitalize on that knowledge.

Russia does not yet have an atom bomb, but the days of U. S. monopoly of A-bomb production are numbered, Forrestal said. He told the congressional committee that he got his information from Dr. Vannevar Bush, chairman of the U.S. research and development board.

During the course of his testimony regarding a two-year draft of men 19 through 25, the defense secretary answered queries with:

"I said they do not have the atom bomb. I did not say they do not have the secret of the atom bomb."

"I am informed by Dr. Bush that the scientific knowledge and technical procedure involved in the manufacture of the atom bomb are known to Russia."

Thus, U.S.-Russian relations on the atomic level had developed to the point where there was only one unknown quantity: How soon would the Soviets acquire the industrial capacity to produce atom bombs? Secretary Forrestal admitted he didn't know.

Italian Style

U.S. Ambassador to Italy James Clement Dunn (right) peers benevolently at an Italian worker in Taranto as he tastes grain that was among the foodstuffs delivered aboard the 500th relief ship to bring food to Italy.

CONTROLS: Cold Shoulder

The jeering specter of price, wage and ration controls was invoked again by President Truman's council of economic advisers which called for nationwide "discipline" to prevent inflation under the impact of the new defense program.

As usual, this advice rattled cheerlessly among the stony hearts of electioneering congressmen.

In its report covering the first three months of 1948 the council denounced the tax cut law as "inflationary" and recommended new taxes if the planned defense spending is not offset by reduced government costs in other areas.

Republican-dominated congress received rather happily the council's call for reduced government spending, but maintained a glum silence on the subject of selective price, wage and ration controls.

Congressmen indicated that they want to study possible inflationary effects of the preparedness program and foreign aid spending under the Marshall plan before they give any serious consideration to resurrecting economic controls.

Although the council admitted that foreign spending coupled with a big defense outlay "will not swamp our economy nor require us to pass from free enterprise to regimentation," it added that "some rather systematic and vigorous discipline must be exercised."

Muff (a Dog) Has Her Ideas About the Nobility of Man

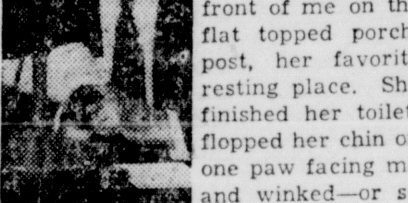

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—There is nothing particularly strange about a dog guarding a batch of milk cans like the one in the accompanying photograph. You wouldn't be too surprised to be told that the dog knew who should collect the cans and who shouldn't; to hear about other dogs who go to the store with a shopping list, bring back groceries and even steaks in the basket they carry; and you know all about the wonderful "Seeing-Eye" dogs which not only guard their masters from harm, but often appear to sense danger's approach.

But the other day I had an experience with a dog which you probably won't believe.

I was sitting at twilight on my porch after a long day and a comforting meal. I was digesting my dinner while Muff, my wire-haired fox, was removing the last vestiges of her share of it from her beard. She was loling in front of me on the flat topped porch, her favorite resting place. She finished her toilet, flopped her chin on one paw facing me and winked—or so it seemed in the fading light. A robin was sounding the last sleepy cadences of his vesper song from the recesses of an ancient maple.

I looked at Muff. She looked back and smiled beneath her whiskers—or so I guessed she might be doing.

"If I had the patience," I said half-aloud, "I could teach you to talk."

"Oh, no you couldn't!"

I could almost swear Muff had responded. She certainly had opened her mouth. I let my imagination run on. "Oh, yes, I could," I replied, pretending she could understand me. "You've got the brains. How do you know that when I take my briefcase, I'll be back in the evening and when I take my suitcase, I won't be back for several days? You DO know, because you show it very plainly: briefcase, a couple of wags and a woof; suitcase, body-wiggles, plaintive arfs, up-jumping and hand-licks."

I went on cataloguing the obvious indications of Muff's intelligence, which far surpasses that of many loquacious human acquaintances. As I talked on, Muff rolled over carefully there was just room for it on her perch and yawned. Not because she was bored, as I was to learn later, but because praise of this type always embarrasses her. She will wag herself wagless at a "good dog!" for some stupid, fetch-and-carry trick that even a Boston Terrier could learn, but when one praises her intellectual achievements, it always embarrasses her and she tries to hide it.

"Well," I insisted, "it's true you are intelligent enough to talk."

Then I was puzzled. Distinctly, though in a breathy voice which sounded the way a dog does before he has quite decided to bark, I heard an answer: "It isn't that I am not intelligent enough. And it isn't that dogs will never talk. But I'm afraid I shall never learn."

I'm dreaming, I said to myself, but no. There was Muff, there was the outline of the maple, dim now as the darkness gathered. There was I.

I shut my eyes. I'll handle this rationally, I said. Just let things happen. I relaxed and was less surprised to hear the soft, breathy voice continue: "It isn't that there's anything wrong with my speech center in the third, left convolution of my cortex—but, I want to repeat, that dogs never can learn to talk."

Gently I opened my eyes. Muff was sitting up now, her head cocked to one side, her mouth, or at least her jaw, moving a little, because even in the crepuscule I could see her beard wagging gently as she went on:

"Because, as you may know, we canines, and I believe this applies to other animals as well, have far clearer race-memories than human beings. You sometimes mistakenly refer to these memories as intuition. That is nonsense."

"We canines picked man as a friend and were probably one of the great factors in his domestication, largely because we found him more malleable than any of the other fauna. And I think we have done a good job. We have not over-sentimentalized at times, but you with YOUR maudlin sentiment, you frequently interpret sound, practical loyalty, motivated by a high moral sense, as a slavish devotion."

"But I'm digressing (the voice went on)—what I would like to bring to your attention is this business of race memories. You men have some, too, and you have something else—traditions. They don't go back as far, but they are part and parcel of the same thing. Only many of your traditions lead you into trouble. In the last few months, while you thought I was asleep, I've heard you and your high-brow friends use phrases like, 'always been wars'; peace never has been maintained except by 'balance of power'; men are 'fighting animals' and so on ad nauseam—(pardon the Latin but a Roman senator belonged to one of my ancestors.) Now I, with my race memories—can recall more of them which have worn thin and been discarded than your species (which I doubt will have a very extended destiny) ever will have.

"Just an example. With little effort, I can recall some of the silly shibboleths which made trouble for some of my ancestors. It was back in the stone age, just about the same time when we canines decided Man had reached the point where he was ready for adoption and training in civilization."

"At that period in pre-history we had advanced to the point where we hunted in packs instead of singly. Our policy was still kill and let be killed although some of us had discovered its fallacy. We also had a long list of so-called hereditary enemies, and next to the apes, Man led them all.

"I don't know how many centuries it took to revise that list, and accept Man as a friend. A pretty stupid and cruel friend, to be sure, but one who could be trained. There was one saying, I believe, which was very popular, but which the more enlightened canines knew was nothing but an old females' tale. It went: 'Don't trust a man any farther than you can smell him.' You would realize the force of that if you knew how far you used to smell."

"There was another saying: 'The only good man is a dead one, and even then you'd better let the jackals taste him first.' I could go on endlessly. It took an awful lot of work to explode those myths. Almost as long as it did to get some of the cruelty out of Man. We've gone a long way in that direction, as you know. In another 10 or 15 centuries I wouldn't be surprised if we got you to treat each other as well as most of you treat us. Your wars! Ugh! That shouldn't—and wouldn't—happen to a dog!"

At this point I sat up. Muff always had been faithful, obedient, and I thought not only my true friend, but also my respectful and humble servant. And this was going too far! Why this was impertinent. My own dog, talking like that!

I must have spoken out loud, for I heard something that sounded like a laugh.

"Now don't try to bust your leash," I heard her remark. "After all, if you think I'm your dog, okay. Somehow I feel that you're my man. So let's let it go at that and we'll both be happy."

"I didn't mean to run on like this and I didn't mean to get dogmatic. I just wanted to say that I know my limitations. I can't talk. But if it's in the canine cards, my descendants will. It took several thousand years to kill the race memories which would have dictated that I take a nip out of your calf instead of licking your hand. And, there's hope for you, too. Maybe progress is just around the corner—"

There was a sudden whoosh, a flash of gray in the night, followed by a parabola of fur as Muff left the post in one leap after the neighbor's cat which by now was snickering at her from the maple branch.

Muff came back. She gave me a hang-dog look and remarked through her whiskers. "That is one race-memory that I can't eliminate." "And by the way," she added, "Don't mention this conversation. Nobody will believe you if you do."

ABOUT OUR PRESIDENTS

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has the unique distinction of having approved several bills which he had signed as President of the United States which he had signed as president of the senate when he was vice president.

PRESIDENT MARTIN VAN BUREN entered the White House with four motherless sons.

ONE OF OUR PRESIDENTS, George Washington, was a farmer. Twenty-two were lawyers, two were army officers, two were in politics, one was a teacher, one a publisher, one was a mining engineer and one a merchant.

College Students Admit Offenses

Texas Survey Reveals They Are Just Better at Covering Trails.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—College students indulge in the same juvenile delinquency offenses as boys and girls who do not have the opportunity for higher education, but only a few of them ever get into court, says Austin L. Porterfield, of the department of sociology of Texas Christian university.

Writing in the Christian-Evangelist, a national weekly church publication, he cites a study of 2,049 alleged delinquents in Fort Worth, Tex., and of 337 college students in three schools in northern Texas.

"It is a striking fact," says Porterfield, "that 100 per cent of the men and women in college reported doing at last one of the acts that had been serious enough to get less fortunate boys and girls into the courts, but instead of getting into court the former went to college."

Everyone Guilty.

The average college man reported doing in his pre-college days 17.6 per cent of the acts charged against court cases, the average college woman 4.7 per cent of the delinquent acts.

Not one acknowledged less than three kinds of delinquent acts.

Students, answering questionnaires anonymously, freely reported delinquencies of the same kind.

They Have a 'Drag.'

Thirty-nine per cent of the men and 3 per cent of the girls reported drunkenness before enrolling in college, Porterfield disclosed, and 43 per cent of the men indulged in drunkenness during their college days.

Porterfield concludes that pre-college students do not suffer the penalties of these offenses because they have plenty of persons who "go to bat" for them, friends in the home, school, church and community.

Retail Sales of State Shows 28% Gain of February

Hamlin area and other Texas areas retail sales hit an estimated $400,000,000 in March, a 28 per cent gain over February, according to a report to The Herald on preliminary tabulations of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

March sales were 15 per cent above the March 1947 level.

Sales of durable goods stores rose 27 per cent above February. All types of stores reported increase ranging from 17 per cent in sales of farm implement dealers to 38 per cent in lumber and building material dealer's sales.

Except for a one per cent decline in hardware store sales, all types of durable goods stores shared in the 20 per cent rise over March 1947 sales. March-to-March gains ranged from seven per cent in furniture store sales to 37 per cent in sales of farm implement dealers.

All types of nondurable goods stores contributed to the overall 20 per cent increase from February to March. Easter buying stimulated sales of apparel stores, as sales of shoe stores rose 74 per cent; women's specialty shops, 47 per cent; and men's and boys' clothing stores, 36 per cent. Sales of general merchandise stores gained 46 per cent an department store

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feeling tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Ann Agnew and Lavon Stewart Represent HHS at State Meet of FHA in Galveston

Ann Agnew and Lavon Stewart represented Hamlin High School at the State Meeting of Future Homemakers of America in Galveston April 23 and 24. They were accompanied by Miss Martha Reese.

A total of 64 other representatives were on the two chartered buses that left Lubbock last Wednesday, April 21. They spent Wednesday night in Austin enroute and Saturday came back to San Antonio where they viewed the last parade of the "Fiesta" and visited the missions.

At Galveston the main feature of the meeting were: Discussion of "Family Living is Fun" by Dr. Harry E. Moore and his wife Dr. Bernice Moore. "Families are fun if everybody does his share of work and gets his share of benefits," they said. Dr. Harry Moore is associate professor of sociology at the University of Texas at Austin. His wife is consultant for home and family relations of the home-making division, State Board of Vocational Education and the Hogg Foundation for Mental Hygiene.

Other important business of the session was election of state officers; Ruth Vink of Temple was elected president—Ruth was born in Russia and has been in the U. S. for five years. She has had her citizenship papers only 32 days.

A RIDE IN THE DARK

By LOUISE BERGSTROM

THE headlights of the blue coupe flashed on in the driveway. Joyce, who had been watching from an upstairs window, reached hurriedly for the coat lying on her bed. As she slipped into the room to see that she had not forgotten anything, by the door her neatly packed suitcase stood ready, and even now the room had that deserted, impersonal atmosphere a room acquires when its occupant goes away.

Her heightened emotions threw an unnatural clarity over the familiar scene. Little things she had not noticed for weeks sprang suddenly into focus. A silly little horn hanging on the dresser was a reminder of a dance Terry had taken her to while they were still in college. He had kissed her that night for the first time. The photograph stuck in the edge of the mirror: Terry with a horrible grimace pretending to clutch her throat as she knelt in supplication in the sand. That had been taken the day the gang drove out to Three Tree Point for a picnic.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again!"

She shivered and drew her coat closer around her shoulders. For tonight was the end of her girlhood, the end of the careless, silly years. After tonight nothing would ever be quite the same again. Better, perhaps. Oh yes—far, far better! But not the same, ever again.

She caught her breath in a sudden panic, and for one horrible, despairing moment she thought, "I don't want to go through with it! I'm afraid!"

Then with a laughing sigh at her absurdity, she shook the mood from her and hurried out of the room without looking back.

Safely in the car with her suitcase tucked under her feet, she relaxed comfortably against the shoulder of the young man behind the steering wheel.

"Look, Terry, there's a new moon tonight. Is that a good omen, do you suppose?"

"I hope so, darling." He looked tenderly down at the delicate oval of her face, childish mop of brown curls and the small hands folded carefully in her lap.

"Oh, Joyce," he exclaimed abruptly, "don't you think we should have told your mother after all? Are you sure that you want to do it this way?"

"Hush, Terry." She patted his knee. "Let's not go into that again. It's too late, anyway. You know Mother, she thinks I'm still a baby! She wanted us to wait at least another year."

"She might be right at that," Terry replied uncertainly. "Maybe you are too young."

"Nonsense!" She shook her curls emphatically. "A girl knows when she's ready. Wasn't it lucky Mother decided to go to California when she did? Everything worked out beautifully. Now she needn't know a thing about it until it's all over."

"Darling," her voice grew pensive. "Why do you suppose it is that middle-aged people can't seem to remember what it's like to be young and in love? Don't they remember the beauty and the reckless urgency? Don't they know there has to come a time when you got to have it all and even everything is not enough?"

Her voice faltered, and in the silence between them the words were like dark wings beating.

Terry reached down and took her hand in a hard grip.

"Joyce, dearest!" he whispered. They were silent then, and the moon-bathed landscape sped past as his foot pressed hard on the gas pedal. It was early spring, and the cool night air blowing in through the car window had the restless, exciting smell of new growth.

At last they were out of the country, coming into the suburbs of a town, where street lights dimmed the moon and houses stood in dark huddled rows.

Terry slowed the car, then suddenly pulled up to the curb and turned to the girl beside him. His arms went around her and his head bent down to hers.

"I love you, Joyce," he said against her soft hair. "Are you afraid of tonight?"

She thought fleetingly of the moment in her room when she said goodbye to her girlhood, but that moment was passed, swept away by the tide of new emotions.

"As long as you love me, Terry," she replied simply. "I'm not afraid of tonight or afterwards." It was quite true; she felt strong now, and confident, ready for anything the future might hold.

He kissed her gently and the car moved forward again, slowly now as though the future had become too precious for any risk. A brightly lighted building loomed before them, and Terry stopped again at the foot of a flight of stone steps. He picked up her suitcase and stepped out of the car, then turned to take her arm.

Joyce looked up eagerly at the words cut over the entrance to the building: "LAKEWOOD MATERNITY HOSPITAL."

She smiled at her husband gravely, reassuringly, and together they started up the steps toward the welcoming lights.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again."

LET'S TALK ABOUT You

—BY CHARLES B. ROTH

The Secret of Good Habits

Because you have been warned so many times against breaking habits, you may have jumped to the conclusion that all habits are bad. But they aren't. I think the number of good habits is greater than the number of bad habits.

You may be astonished when I tell you that being more effective and successful in your life is largely a matter of habit. What I mean is that clever and successful people have formed helpful habits of thinking and doing, while neurotic and unsuccessful people have the wrong kind of habits. That is the chief difference between them.

Look at a habit in this way and you will see what I mean. What is habit except doing—or thinking—the same thing often enough until doing or thinking it becomes automatic, and you do every customary act in the same way. Such action is called "habitual action." When you think the same thoughts often enough until they have become thoughts that come and go without your bidding, really without your control, you are doing habitual or habituated thinking.

Now, the secret of winning the right kind of personality and place in life is simply to determine a pattern of thoughts that you want to have, and then to think those thoughts and keep on thinking them long enough until thinking them becomes a habit.

Let's say that at the present time you are willy-nilly about everything you do. You can't make up your mind. You waver. You postpone. You can't make decisions.

Those things are a sign of faulty thought habits.

Decide that for one week you will act decisively, even if wrongly, in little things. During that week act, live, carry yourself like a person of resolute habits.

Maybe one week's experiment isn't going to be long enough to overthrow the faulty thought habits of a lifetime, but it will help. It will be long enough to put you on the road to right thinking and to right habits.

Dig deeply enough into the way the person you admire the most lives, and you probably will find that he is controlled by a series of habits—right habits. The sum total of those habits is what gives him his personality, his attractiveness. The sum total of good habits in your life will do just as much for you.

New Army Technique Aids Plane Survivors

GOOSE BAY, LABRADOR. — A new technique for rescuing survivors of plane crashes in the frozen Labrador wastelands by pin-pointing dog-sled teams by parachute has been developed by the air transport command.

The newly developed operation "dog-sled" will save precious hours for plane crash survivors exposed to the bitter cold and possibly suffering from injuries received when their craft plunged earthward.

Conceived by Sgt. George E. Abbott, Norfolk, Va., the unusual rescue operation is especially valuable because some areas of the woody terrain in Labrador are so dense that helicopters cannot land.

Huskies, sleds and para-doctors jump from C-47's via the silk chute route and gather together at a focal point where the dog teams are assembled. Then the unit proceeds to the scene of the crash where it administers first aid, evacuates the seriously wounded and provides food.

The entire procedure lasts only a few minutes, contrasting sharply with the hours and days that it has taken overland rescue teams to reach some crash scenes in the past.

Twins Are Identical, Even to Toothaches

Six-year-old Janice and Jeanette Washburn of Mattapoisett, Mass., are identical twins—painfully identical.

When they reported to the school dentist, Dr. George M. Teasdale, with toothaches in corresponding molars, Dr. Teasdale insisted he never before had heard of such a coincidence.

To their mother, however, it was an old story. The twins lost the same corresponding first baby teeth on the same day. Similar circumstances also surrounded the loss of their second teeth.

MANY queries have been thrown our way concerning the pennant race that is just starting. The two questions that come up most frequently are:

NO. 1: Who are the outstanding stars you have seen?

NO. 2: Who are the leading rookies who might make a difference in a pennant race? (Note—this refers only in the Florida sector.)

Here are listed the outstanding pitchers we have seen — Ewell Blackwell, the six-foot five-inch anaconda or python with the Cincinnati Reds who will throttle many a hitter this season. Blackwell, with any sort of team support, will win 25 games—even with the Reds. He is baseball's star pitcher.

Hal Newhouse of the Tigers is another 25-game winner with a second-grade infield and only a fair outfield behind him. Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain of the Braves, Murrey Dickson of the Cardinals and Joe Dobson of the Red Sox also are near the top.

We would like to see Blackwell and Newhouse with the Red Sox or the Yankees. Both could pass the 30-game mark.

BEST INFELDERS — Few real standouts. No top first basemen, barring Musial; Kell of Tigers, the best at third. Many good shortstops.

BEST OUTFELDERS — Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Country Slaughter, the game's tops. Cliff Mages of the Yankees and Sam Mele of the Red Sox are high grade, but they are not of the reigning trio's calibre.

BEST ROOKIES—Curt Simmons of the Phillies, Leland Brissie of the Athletics—two sure stars—an 18-year-old kid and a badly wounded war veteran; Stalcup, Reds' shortstop; Alvin Dark, Braves' shortstop; Al Papi, Cardinal pitcher, and Hank Sauer, Reds' outfielder.

You'll hear more about these later on. They are ballplayers. These are the ones that Bucky Harris of the Yankees and Eddie Dyer of the Cardinals recommend.

Harris is game enough to state openly that his Yankees and Eddie Dyer's Cardinals will be in the next world series.

"I think it will be that way," Harris tells you. "Why not say so? Certainly we can run second or third. So can the Cardinals. I just don't think we will. I think both teams will have too much pitching. Between us, we have from 18 to 20 good starting pitchers. That should be enough."

Attendance Figures

There is always an added interest in the number of people who have time and interest enough and cash enough to attend ball games.

The 1947 season broke all past records for total attendance. The teams at home that passed the million mark were these:

American league: New York, 2,178,937; Detroit, 1,298,093; Cleveland, 1,521,978, and Boston 1,427,315.

National league: Brooklyn, 1,807,596; New York, 1,599,784, and Chicago, 1,364,039. Boston, Pittsburgh and St. Louis were all over the million mark.

Only the Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phillies failed to reach or crack the one million mark in the National league. Maybe Red rooters were dreaming of the hour. That many should have gone out to see Blackwell. He was worth it.

But about 1948? Attendance in the Citrus circuit has been well above any past year. St. Petersburg has cracked all past records.

Surplus Weight

It will be only a short while before Joe Louis is back home again, all set to start his training for the June show with Jersey Joe Walcott.

Despite what you hear, Louis must take off at least 30 pounds to be in first-class condition again and, at the age of 34, you don't shed 30 pounds in any rush. The flesh hangs on with rare persistence and doesn't care to be shaken loose.

Back in December, Louis had lost all semblance of speed. He had lost all speed of foot and speed of hands. At one time he had as fast a pair of hands as anyone would care to see. He was a rattlesnake in bronze. Against Walcott, he could set nothing in motion but his dreams of yesterday.

He is going to crowd it all in a few weeks—the preparation needed to get keen and sharp again, something approaching the Louis that used to be. He could never even come close to that. Time and the passing years have taken care of this problem—that, plus surplus weight.

The factor that worked so roughly against Louis is that for five years after the war came along, he had only two unimportant fights against Conn and Mauriello. The first was no contest and the second was a one-round flare-up.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Live Up the 'Dead' Forties

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features

Little trips like this may well come to be the habit as well as the delight of your lives.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"To put the whole thing simply," writes a woman from Kansas City, "my husband is tired of me. In every possible way he shows it, and I am wearing myself out wondering why. I'm just the same as I always was, our children and our home are just as pleasant, we have no money worries, in fact, the death of a wealthy aunt a year ago has given us a comfortable feeling that in the future we can do anything in reason for our boys and our girl.

"For months now, however, Paul has been rude to me. Smiling in a superior way if I express an opinion, giving an exclamation of impatience if I ask him to hand me a book or close the door, sneering at my friends, yawning elaborately if I take him to a picture, play or concert, and openly expressing before the children, who are 12, 14 and 17, his contempt for 'Mother's notions.'"

"Over and over again," the letter continues, "my eyes fill with tears, and I go about for hours with a hurt feeling in my heart. I know there isn't another woman, I know Paul would be horrified at the idea of a divorce, but his superior, scornful attitude is hard to bear. If I appeal to him he rises quietly and takes himself and his newspapers to some other room.

"Have you any suggestions as to the curing of a man's bad manners? I will be 40 next year, the prospect of the years ahead is a very terrifying one, with my companion a person who obviously is bored and impatient with every phase of my character and my interests. Paul has not kissed me for months. He has made me no more generous allowance because of his legacy. He says he wants to leave that intact because we 'may need it some day.' I never have been extravagant, but of course I would like the feeling that certain luxuries were now in reach. Once I hinted this, and was ungraciously asked what on earth I wanted now?"

"We always have been considered a devoted couple. Can you give me any reason why a man should change so completely, and like to hurt the person supposedly nearest to him?"

My dear Josette, I say in answer, there really is a reason for this, and although it is not a very good one, it is potent in many a case beside your own. Paul has been a good steady man for all his 43 years. He has been self-respecting, responsible, admired. He has worked hard to succeed in profession, home, society. He has been priding himself on sons and daughter, good wife, security, reputation.

Now he realizes suddenly that the forties are not like the thirties. In the thirties a couple is still on the young side, children not out of the nursery, college days still close in memory, dancing and downtown parties still in the picture.

The forties change that. To his consternation Paul realizes that—by George, the next thing is the fifties! He can't believe it. He'll be a grandfather first thing you know, and he'll still be tied to the same old Josette, with the little weaknesses and the tiresome traits he knows so well.

It is part of our great American tragedy of divorce that hundreds of lost marriages could be saved if men and women could learn to rediscover, when years have worn away the fine edge of their relationship, the joy of being alone together again.

Sea Serpent Story
BOSTON.—A "sea serpent" reported seen by 200 witnesses off Nahant August 16, 1819, really may have been such a monster, perhaps the last of the species, the marine historian Edward Rowe Snow believes.

Records show that James Prince, marshal of Massachusetts, who viewed the monster through a spy-glass, estimated it to be about 60 feet long. He said the serpent traveled like a caterpillar.

"Paul has been rude to me..."

BORED HUSBAND

A man who has lived with his wife and family for nearly 20 years reaches a saturation point at which he resents the rut into which he has fallen. Consciously or unconsciously he harbors ill feeling against his loved ones.

Miss Norris advises that it is a woman's task to inspire a zest for life within her husband when he reaches the doldrums of the forties. She can accomplish this by pervading enthusiasm for travel, vacationing, adventure.

Her husband will be gripped by her fever for excitement and they will experience delights which they thought were impossible in the 'dead' forties.

In Paul's case there has been another potent factor, too. That legacy, those thousands, they're to be saved and spent on the kids' schooling, are they? No adventure for him, no freedom, just the routine of office and club and home; just getting older.

The psychopathic discomfort of this time is recognized quickly enough in women, but it is by no means confined to one sex. It is a little premature death, it is a wind from an unknown country, blowing coldly across one's dream that youth isn't quite gone, adventure, new loves, new scenes, may be close ahead.

Paul doesn't really want anyone but you. He isn't fool enough to think that any pretty 18-year-old who would break up his home and deprive him of his children, would be worth bothering about. He knows all about that bald spot on the top of his head and that extra girth.

But he desperately wants excitement, change and spicing. Your reproaching him, your tears, will get you nowhere.

But get one or two smart traveling outfits, and plan to drive to Canada, Mexico or California next month. Persuade him that home, office, children can very well spare you both for six weeks. Convince him by your own enthusiasm that this matter of sacrificing everything to the children's future needs is all nonsense.

You will find in your companion upon unknown roads and in little wayside inns the joyous young Paul you haven't known for some time. That you look pretty and feel adventurous and want to go off just with him alone will work miracles for his hurt vanity. He has been jealous, he has been feeling unimportant, he has been wondering what's the use of this extra money. Little trips like this may well come to be the habit as well as the delight of your lives.

It is part of our great American tragedy of divorce that hundreds of lost marriages could be saved if men and women could learn to rediscover, when years have worn away the fine edge of their relationship, the joy of being alone together again.

Easily Built Children's Giraffe's Neck Slide

Do you feel tired, jittery, in need of a vacation? If the news on the front page starts to get you down, it's time to relax. You'll be agreeably surprised to see how far away from the worries of the world you can get by working with wood. Sawing wood and then putting the pieces together has tremendous therapeutic values. It's a grand way to keep yourself completely occupied while accomplishing something worth while.

Building this slide from the pattern isn't at all difficult. All you do is cut each part according to the pattern. Then fasten each piece together exactly in position indicated on the printed paper pattern. No special tools or skill are required. The pattern specifies materials to buy and where to use each piece. All lumber is stock size and readily obtainable at lumber yards everywhere.

Send 50 cents for Slide Pattern No. 63 to Easy-Build Pattern Company, Dept. W, Pleasantville, N. Y.

Harsh Laxatives are NOT necessary for most people

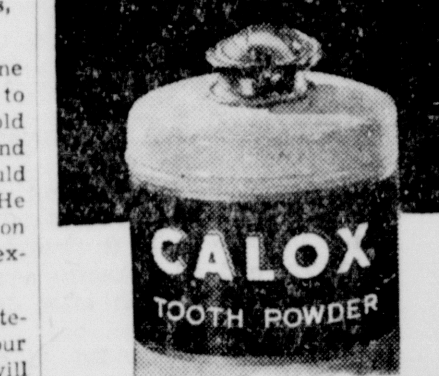

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination. No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C; supply valuable amounts of B<sub>1</sub> and P. They alkalize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Tom Teague Returns From Dallas Corsetry School

Mrs. Tom Teague may now sign her name with G. C. (graduate corsetiere, to you). She has just returned from an extensive study at the Gossard School of Corsetry, recently held in Dallas. She is justly proud of her Gossard diploma, which is won only by passing the written examinations an anatomy, female; figure analysis, merchandising, advertising and promotion.

She feels that one of the most outstanding strides forward in the corset industry is the development of figure type garments. Foundation garments are designed in the wide variety of sizes for seven basic figure types. This makes it possible for every woman to have a custom type fit garment without paying custom-made prices.

H. W. Gossard Company, corset company, that pioneered corsetry training for the last 50 years, began its annual training school in Dallas Monday, April 19.

A special feature Tuesday was a talk by Norman Freeman of Titcher Goettinger. Mrs. Margaret Evans of A. Harris explained the function of advertisements, Wednesday morning. Connie Baughman, fashionist of A. Harris, was commentator at the preview of Fall fashions Wednesday afternoon.

Thomas Ferguson of Hamlin sold 31 mixed cattle to $21.50 at the Abilene Livestock Auction Company last Thursday.

ASK ME ANOTHER?

A General Quiz

THE QUESTIONS

1. Do all deer shed their horns every year?
2. Why aren't the keys on the typewriter listed alphabetically?
3. Does garlic have food value?
4. Are there more golfers or bowlers in this country?
5. Why are tons of colored comic sheets shipped to trading posts in the jungles of Africa?

THE ANSWERS

1. Yes. Male deer lose their horns in the spring of the year, but sometimes they shed them at another time.
2. The originator of the typewriter keyboard tried to arrange the letters in a manner that would make for the greatest ease of operation. He was a printer and placed them as in a printer's type case.
3. Just a trace of Vitamin C.
4. Three million golfers; fifteen million bowlers.
5. Natives won't buy things wrapped in other paper.

Texas Farm Income Falls 42% From January to February Report Shows

Hamlin area and other Texas farm income fell 42 per cent from January to February according to a report to The Herald early this week from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Total farm income in February was $131,993,000, as all farm products except fruits and vegetables brought lower receipts than a month earlier.

Milk products, totaling $9,798,000 were the greatest source of farm income in February. Cattle sales were $7,847,000 and fruits and vegetables, $7,538,000.

Increased fruit and vegetable marketings pushed farm income above January levels in the South Texas Plains and Lower Rio Grande Valley Districts. Decreases ranged from 4 per cent in the Coastal Prairies to 76 per cent in the Southern High Plains District.

Highest February income was reported by the Lower Rio Grande Valley District, $9,938,000. Black and Grand Prairies was second, at $8,220,000; and Northern High Plains, third, $7,663,000. Although the Trans-Pecos District turned in the lowest February farm cash income it showed a 31 per cent gain above a year earlier.

Compared to February 1947, the farm cash income slid 16 per cent. February-to-February changes varied from a 31 per cent gain in the Trans-Pecos District to a 38 per cent fall on the Red Bed Plains District. Generally, cotton and grain products brought Texas farmers more money than in February 1947, but livestock sales were less.

Bureau's seasonally-adjusted index was 228 in February, 299 in January, 488 in December and 275 in February 1947.

Health Officer Says Dogs Vital to Health Attention to Rabid

Recent death of a child in South Texas from rabies emphasizes the danger of this disease and its importance to public health.

According to a statement just released to The Herald by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, there were 1,099 rabid animals discovered by laboratory examination in Texas last year. There were undoubtedly many more rabid animals running loose which were never examined. Since most of these animals were dogs, children are especially vulnerable to this dreaded disease, Jones County people were reminded.

"All dogs should be vaccinated annually as a rabies control measure," Dr. Cox said. "When a child is bitten by an infected dog, the dog should be penned up for observation for 10 days. If he shows no signs of illness in that time he is not rabid, but if he sickens, he should be killed in such a manner as not to injure the brain. The brain should be packed immediately in ice and sent to the State Health Department for examination. If rabies is shown to be present there is still time to begin anti-rabies treatment on the child."

Hamlin and other cities and towns should take firm steps to control the presence of stray and ownerless dogs, Dr. Cox advises, since they remain unvaccinated and are usually the principal source of rabies.

Jones County Car Registration 16% Higher Last Year

According to figures released by Elzy Bennett, Jones County tax assessor-collector at Anson late last week, motor vehicle registration for Jones County was approximately 16 per cent higher in 1948 than in 1947.

Total number of issued licenses through Saturday, April 3, was 6,833, roughly 1,100 more than in the preceding year.

"A few more dealer licenses have been issued this year than in the past," Bennett stated, "but most of the increase has been in passenger vehicle registration."

"Total number registered has been even higher than what we expected and will probably reach 7,000 by the time all late registrants are accounted for," he concluded.

Attorney General to Speak at Abilene

Hamlinites are again reminded this week that Attorney General Price Daniel has accepted two speaking engagements in Abilene May 14 and 15 and will visit other West Texas cities on the trip, according to a office report to The Herald.

He will speak to the West Texas

County Judges and Commissioners Association, their annual meeting May 15 and will speak May 14 to the Abilene Rotary Club.

Both speeches will stress the need for active participation in local and state governments, in order to preserve our Democratic ideals of local self-government at home and make the plan attractive to other nations of the World.

He will also outline some of the duties and responsibilities of the Attorney General (including the successful handling of over 1,000 law suits by his office on behalf of the State during the past year).

Miss Wanda Carter of Sweetwater visited her grandmother, Mrs. Rosie Embrey, Sunday.

TRUE STORIES OF WEST TEXAS

(By N. H. Kincaid, 2618 Victory St., Abilene, Texas—Copyrighted)

"AN INCIDENT AT DOAN'S STORE, 1878"

A look of shocked surprise flooded Lide Doan's face as she glimpsed their fast disappearing horses. They were being driven by an Indian rider and as she realized the significance of this, her lips loosened in fear.

This was the spring of 1878 and the Indians, located just across the Red River on their Comanche-Kiowa reservation, were evidently on the prowl again. And with the horses gone, she knew herself and the children to be completely at the Indians' mercy.

The children! Quickly Lide hurried toward the creek where she had sent them to gather wood and cowchips for her baking. Her husband, Corwin Doan, was away for the day, hunting, there had been no previous hint of Indian trouble.

As Lide barricaded her little group within the house and made preparations for a long, grueling day, her mind was nimbly trying to ferret out every possible explanation for the Indians' behavior.

She Expected More.

Theater Manager—"What's the matter with the leading lady?"
Actor—"She only got nine bouquets of flowers last night."

Manager—"Good heavens, isn't that enough?"
Actor—"Nope, she paid for 10."

She knew that they had long ago accepted the Doans as trusted nor had this trust been violated.

"Perhaps Corwin banked too heavily on this understanding," she decided, "and forgot that they were Indians—and Plains Indians, at that."

When Corwin returned around sundown, he decided that their only chance of survival lay in strategy. The attack must not take place.

The evening's chores were piled as usual save that an extra amount of fuel was gathered. Soon wreaths of smoke rose high as if in welcome to expected guests. Buffalo hunters were known to be in that vicinity, and a visit from them would not be at all unusual. And to an Indian, a buffalo hunter, with his deadly marksmanship and long range 50 caliber gun, was a person to be avoided. And so Corwin and Lide remembered the disappearing horses and acted on their premonitions rather than the past friendship of the Indians.

They prepared for imaginary company with a lusty zest.

But as soon as the night had settled, the five Doans left the house to carry on its pretense alone while they crept stealthily toward a grove of trees growing on the river's bank half a mile away.

At daybreak, they trudged sleepily back to the house, ashamed of their suspicions of those who had always proven friendly to them.

But at noon a scouting party of soldiers arrived with their stolen horses, an da bit of news. The Indians had been captured but not in time to prevent several atrocities. Two boys from down State had been attacked in camp, one killed outright and the other scalped and left to die.

Lide recoiled them, they had spent the night with them, two days before. Jauntily they had ridden away, flaunting their new Stetsons and thrilled with adventure.

"The Indians mentioned that you had company last night, some buffalo hunters," the soldiers casually remarked. Quickly Lide and Corwin glanced at each other and read the other's thoughts, their premonitions had been correct after all and only thus had they been spared.

Stock Shipments Off 42% Month Average; 63% for Year Ago

Livestock shipments from Texas stations dropped 42 per cent from January to February, according to a report to The Herald from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research early this week.

Shipments of livestock totaled 5,086 carloads in February or 58 per cent below a year earlier.

All livestock shipments were substantially lower in February from the previous month. Shipments of calves fell 53 per cent from January; sheep, 46 per cent; cattle, 41 per cent and hogs, 20 per cent.

Compared with February 1947, all livestock shipments were down. Greatest decrease occurred in the shipments of cattle were 63 per cent sheep shipments—72 per cent. cent under a year earlier.

West Texas Utilities Asks for $5,000,000 Bonds for Betterment

Hamlin residents were informed by the West Texas Utilities Company this week, that it had filed application with the Securities and Exchange Commission of Washington, D. C., for permission to issue and sell $5,000,000, principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds, Series B. It is proposed that the bonds which will be dated March 1 and will mature in 1978 will be sold by competitive bids.

On announcing the filing of the application, Price Campbell, president of the Company, said, "Growth of the area served by the West Texas Utilities Company has been phenomenal, but we think the greatest growth of West Texas is still ahead. The proceeds of the proposed bonds will provide a portion of the cash required to pay for additional generating capacity and other facilities for supplying the electric service necessary for the industrial and agricultural growth of West Texas."

Proposed $5,000,000 bond issue is one phase of an $18,000,000 construction program, it was pointed out. This huge construction program which is to be completed

If Social Calendar Is Busy, Make Your Glamour Clothes

By Erta Haley

GIRLS who are getting out of school invariably find their social calendars full to overflowing these days and this calls for rather a sizable investment in what they refer to as glamour togs.

No average family budget can stand the strain of this because there is necessarily an outlay for clothing for other members of the family. But if mother and daughter take to the needle or sewing machine, they can turn out two or three formal dresses that will do the trick.

A formal may look especially tricky but for those of you who never have sewed one, the news is a wonderful surprise. It's much easier than you think.

First of all, the fabrics you choose are among the easiest to sew. Organdie, eyelet and even tulle just all seem to go where you want them to while you run them on the machine or let the needle traverse the unencumbered or basted lines.

If you are inexperienced, choose one of the simpler designs and ask someone who knows whether the material you are working with will let itself be readily molded into something beautiful under your inexperienced fingers.

Stay away from severe fitted dresses that look deceptively easy. They require a fitting skill that demands years of experience.

Don't Let Full Skirts Or Ruffles Trouble You

If full skirts and ruffles look tough to tackle, relax. Full skirts are easy, as you'll undoubtedly see when you run a basting stitch through the material and try to gather it.

Ruffles are easy, too, and if you have a ruffler attachment on the sewing machine, these are true simplicity. If you're the sweet feminine type, you'll find that ruffles are just the thing this season, but don't attempt the really elaborate treatment of them—not so much because the ruffles are hard to make but because it's sometimes difficult to insert them when they're placed in small triangles along the back of the skirt.

However, ruffle trimming along the hem, or around the sleeves or neckline can be managed easily. They should be hemmed before you ruffle, of course.

Swishy taffeta and faille are among the materials you also will be using. Neither of them is difficult to handle if you are careful about basting, and this is extremely essential as they tend to slip.

If your budget can't afford a formal, it would be simplicity itself to make one of those large full skirts, and then to buy an intricate Gibson girl blouse to complete the picture.

Are pretty in eyelet or organdie.

This type of skirt can, of course, be worn with several different kind of tops, and that may be all you need for your dates.

Practical Net Skirt Worn Three Ways

A full skirt of black or white net can be very practical. The skirt itself should be four to five yards wide, with four or five rows of gathers at the waist. It should be finished with a firm belt.

The first frothy topping for this skirt may be of net which is shirred closely to the bodice. Finish with straps of wide ribbon or a rhinestone band.

The second topping may be made of taffeta. This should be chosen in your best color. The same material may be made into bows and tacked with tiny stitches to the skirt.

The third top may be made of net, covering the front and back to give a V neckline. A large flower at the shoulder is all that is needed to complete the costume.

The main thing to remember in sewing net is that it will ravel and should, therefore, be finished at the seams with double stitching and at the hemline with a similar treatment.

Glamour Frock

With commencement parties and dances ahead, you'll want variety in glamour clothes. You can solve the problem by taking to your sewing machine and avoid running into budget difficulties. The above dress is a nice style for gayhearted occasions. It's a demure full-skirted dress of crisp, white eyelet embroidered cotton.

The slip worn under it may be of taffeta or rayon to match.

The slip does not have to be as full as the skirt, but it must be of closely woven heavy material.

Select Simple Trimming For Formal Dress

There is a variety of trimmings to use for dressy dresses and there are several types practical for home sewing.

Applique is one of them, and if you can stitch neatly, there is nothing nicer for a bouffant frock of organdie. Use flowers that will go well with the color of your frock and use them on the wide, full skirt.

If you like shirring, this may be done on the gathering foot or ruffler attachment. Finger your material, and be assured first whether it will hang well, whether it will be limp or bouffant before you actually start the work.

Bows, of course, may be used on youthful frocks and are very effective. Finished ribbon, carefully tied and tacked, can lend a dramatic air to a bouffant frock.

If you have chosen one of the ankle length frocks, a full taffeta slip with a ruffled edging peeking underneath it is all the fashion interest you actually need. Ribbons are being used, run through eyelet on slip trimmings to give them an old fashioned air.

Your wrap may be a short coat in one of the lovely pastels. When you select it, make certain it will be of good daytime use.

WHITE'S THE THING

It's a white blouse season, but if you think all of them are trimmed with ruffles, look again. There are distinctly tailored blouses in sleek fabrics such as poplin, broadcloth and linen. You'll see sleeve fullness, gathered close at the wrist, dolman sleeves, standing collars or none at all.

Be Smart!

Watch those dolman-type sleeves in many variations and degrees of depth and fullness, a pretty counter-balance to wide skirts. These sleeves are particularly effective in bright lightweight wools and spun rayons.

Nehemiah Rebuilds Jerusalem

Lesson for May 2, 1948

BORN and reared in Persia, Nehemiah appears in the opening scene of his prophecy as cup bearer to King Artaxerxes in the royal palace at Shushan. He was a favorite at court, due, no doubt, to his personality and training, plus a keen desire to serve his people. He obtained a royal order from Artaxerxes, granting him passage to Jerusalem. It was a long and dangerous journey, but Nehemiah travelled not only with letters from the king, but assurance in his heart that he was on the Lord's mission. He was given authority to seek help from other nations. Just how much help he received from other nations is not definitely certified, but we do know that he achieved the high purpose which God had put in his heart. He governed the city wisely for a dozen years, and wrought many notable reforms. Read the first seven chapters of Nehemiah for the complete story. Read also Psalms 122:1-9.

WHEN FRIENDS WORK TOGETHER

UPON arrival in Jerusalem, Nehemiah made a tour of the city by night. He was shocked and amazed at the ruins. He called upon the people to come and help rebuild the walls. And they were impressed with the earnestness and sincerity and courage of his call. "So built we the wall; and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof; for the people had a mind to work," Nehemiah 4:6.

There is work for everyone who is of a willing mind. There is work in the home. Boys and girls who pitch in and share in the everyday work of the home make glad the hearts of their parents, and at the same time they are learning how to care for their own homes when they grow up.

STRENGTH AND ENCOURAGEMENT

NEHEMIAH set the people together in families, with tools for work and weapons for defense against the enemy. And in this union of numbers there was both strength and courage. We need today to learn anew this lesson of working together. So often we witness evidence of people pulling against one another. We see it in the home and in the school and in the wider areas of life—in politics and in the clash between capital and labor.

THOSE WHO OPPOSED NEHEMIAH

OUR lesson describes not only the courage and wisdom of Nehemiah in getting the Jews to work and work together, but it tells us about those who opposed the rebuilding of Jerusalem. Sanballat was the governor of Samaria, and when he heard that Nehemiah was rebuilding Jerusalem, he put in to defeat him by many schemes of sabotage.

He began with ridicule. "What do these feeble Jews?" he scoffingly asked. Ridicule is always one of the weapons of those who would tear down and destroy. Young people will do well to guard themselves against the snare of cynicism. It is a dangerous thing, Sanballat and his cohorts, Tobiah, and certain Arabians and Ammonites and Ashdodites, conspired to hinder Nehemiah in many devious attacks; but the people worked and fought, in the name of the Lord.

WHAT MAKES A REAL LEADER?

THIS is the question which will inevitably arise as we study this lesson. How could one man inspire people to undertake the impossible? First, Nehemiah relied implicitly upon God's help. Second, he threw himself into the task, fearlessly and intelligently. Third, he possessed the quality of inspiring faith and hope in others. These are the qualities that make a real leader, anywhere, any time.

How we do need such leaders today! And the Bible speaks to us, in the story of Nehemiah, reminding us how real leaders are produced. Read the 122nd Psalm. Here is the secret of it all—"They shall prosper that love thee." Every difficulty confronting the home, the community, the nation, the world, can be met and mastered, provided we tackle it in the name of the Lord, relying upon his wisdom, his strength, his poise.

It's Easy to Make Strawberry Shortcake (See recipes below)

Strawberry Time

For those of you who like strawberries, the season is too short! But we aim to do our best by them this season, so let's have them several times each week as long as we can. Perfect strawberries are just plain good served au naturel. And if you like them sweeter, dip each in a mound of powdered sugar, before tasting its deliciousness. Some like them for breakfast with a sprinkling of sugar and a quaint pitcher of thick country cream.

Strawberries in shortcake make a dream of a dessert. Some prefer old fashioned biscuit type of shortcake, split and covered with sweetened crushed berries and cream. Others prefer a more cake-like type of accompaniment to the berries.

*Strawberry Shortcake (Serves 6)

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons shortening
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup milk
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 tablespoon soft butter
1 quart strawberries, sliced and sugared

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together; cut shortening into mixture with two knives or pastry blender until mixture is the consistency of corn meal.

Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, mixing quickly to form a soft dough. Drop the dough by spoonfuls into a well greased two quart heat resistant glass utility dish. Sprinkle each biscuit with grated orange peel. Bake in a hot (450 degree) oven for 12 minutes. Split hot biscuits and spread with soft butter. Place the sweetened strawberries between and on top of each biscuit. Serve a pitcher of cream with the shortcake if desired.

Fresh Strawberry Pie

1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 quart strawberries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch or flour
Sweetened whipped cream

Crush half the berries and bring to boiling point. Stir in sugar combined with flour or cornstarch and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and well cooked. Spread other half of berries (whole) in baked pie shell. Pour hot cooked filling over top, cool, top with sweetened whipped cream and serve. Meringue may be used instead of whipped cream and pie browned in a moderate (350 degree) oven.

Special Strawberry Shortcake

2 cups sifted all-purpose enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
4 tablespoons shortening
2 eggs
1/2 cup orange juice
1/4 teaspoon lemon extract

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut in shortening. Beat one whole egg and one egg yolk, reserving one white for the tops. Add orange juice and flavoring to beaten eggs, then add to dry ingredients. Stir only enough to make dough hold together. Turn out on lightly floured board, and knead a half minute. Roll out 1/2 inch thick. Cut. Brush tops with white of egg and sprinkle with sugar. Bake on ungreased baking sheet for 12 minutes in 425 degree preheated oven. Split hot shortcakes, butter and fill with sliced sweetened berries. Replace top and pour berries over top. Serve with cream if desired.

Strawberry Meringue Pie

1 pint fresh strawberries
3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup sugar
Few drops vanilla
Honey
Baked pie crust

Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Beat in sugar and flavor with few drops of vanilla. Drain berries carefully; sweeten with honey and fold into meringue. Turn into pie crust and brown in moderate (350 degree) oven about 30 minutes. Serve as soon as cool. (Other fresh, carefully drained fruits may be used.)

Standish Pudding (Makes 1 quart)

1 quart strawberries
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup water
Lemon juice
1/2 pint whipping cream
1/4 cup powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup rolled dried macaroons

Pick over strawberries, sprinkle with sugar and let stand for two hours. Mash, squeeze through a double thickness of cheesecloth and add water and lemon juice to taste. Turn mixture into a one quart brick mold or place in freezing tray. Beat cream until stiff and add powdered sugar, vanilla and rolled macaroons. Pour over fruit mixture to overflow mold. Cover with buttered paper and freeze in a mixture of ice and salt, or let freeze in refrigerator compartment.

Raspberry or Strawberry Whip (Serves 4)

1 1/4 cup berries
1 cup powdered sugar
1 egg white

Beat ingredients together with wire whip or electric whip until stiff enough to hold shape. Serve over pieces of sponge or angel cake or pile lightly in a dish, chill, surround with lady fingers and serve with soft custard sauce.

Luncheon Dish De Luxe

Scrambled eggs with shrimp make a delicious and satisfying luncheon dish. To prepare, saute one chopped green onion and one slice mushroom in two tablespoons margarine or butter. Let cook over a low heat three or four minutes. Add one-half cup shrimp which has been broken into small pieces, and one canned tomato. Again cook over a low heat one or two minutes. Add four eggs which have been beaten with two tablespoons cream, salt and pepper. Stir slowly over a low heat until of desired doneness. Serve on toast or crisp wafers. Sprinkle with grated spicy cheese.

Here's a filling combination, made of all vegetables: Corn pudding, creamed string beans with almonds, French fried carrots and radishes.

Do you like mushrooms? Bake them in cream, then serve along with turnip souffle, buttered string beans and sliced tomatoes.

Serve cottage cheese with assorted fruits or assorted raw vegetables like sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, with olives at the side.

Fruit pies will be better flavored if you add a dash of honey to them.

Modern means of travel have rendered the famous St. Bernard Hospice in Switzerland almost unnecessary. It is to be closed after nearly 1,000 years of service. The monks and dogs will live in the Rhone Valley from now on.

After a look into the brooders at the dozens of dead chicks under the feet of live ones and the smell was most sickening, we decided to go other places. There is no excuse for such scenes and folks who contemplate buying healthy chicks should first look over the hatchery. Folks can be robbed without a gun. The name of the Column is "Pot-Shots."

Helpy-Selfy Laundry on or about May 1. Another business for the home town which will save housewives many miles of driving.

Two out burst of energy on the part of Fisher County candidates has thus far been noticed. Perhaps they too are waiting for a rain.

There are a lot of folks in the World with up-set stomachs but there are lot of politicians in Washington that have very weak knees.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson and children from Borger visited last Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rhoten.

Mrs. Lawrence Brewer and baby from Abilene were visitors Sunday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keane.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallaway Jr. and sons from Dallas were week-end visitors in the home of parents, Rev. and Mrs. Dick and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallaway Sr.

Have been looking any day to see the mail jammed with W. Lee O'Daniel News but so far such is not the case. Surely "Pappy" is planning and burning the midnight oil trying to figure out just what kind of scheme to get the votes or maybe he has lost his stroke.

Hubert Carson of McCauley was elected president of the student body at McMurry College, Abilene last week. Quite an honor.

No comment on the ball game at Hamlin Sunday except the score was 23 to 14 in favor of the Hamlin Cardinals.

W. H. Pickron of Hamlin hands us this check for $5 for the McCauley Cemetery Fund. Thanks

Rev. and Mrs. Dick joins the McCauley Red Cross Drive with their contribution.

Guy Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kemp of McCauley and Miss Francis P. Kemp of Sylvester were married last Monday, April 19, at Sylvester with the Methodist pastor officiating. Mrs. Waldon, sister of the bride was maid of honor and a nephew of the bride, James Goldon Waldon, was best man in the double ring ceremony. Present at the wedding were Mrs. B. F. Kemp, mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kemp, brothers of the groom, bride's mother, Mrs. Waldon, groom, Jeff Stewart of Roby, Mrs. sister of the bride and her nephew, James Goldon Waldon. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp will make their home in Midland where he is employed by the Superior Oil Company of that city.

were married last week in Sweetwater. Perryman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Perryman of McCauley and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hulen of Hamlin. The couple will make their home in Sweetwater where he is employed.

WANTS FRIENDS TO KNOW HOW RETONGA AIDED HIM

"Every Bite I Ate Seemed To Turn Against Me," States Mr. Lee McClung, Who Found Retonga to Be Everything Claimed For It. Tells of his Case.

"When I find something good, I like for my friends to know about it, and that's the way I feel about Retonga," says Mr. Lee McClung, prominent Hill County farmer who lives at 101 Smith Street, Hillsboro, Texas. He gratefully states: "Every bite of food I ate seemed to turn against me and form terrific gas pressure in my stomach. I suffered tortures from sharp, cutting pains in the pit of my stomach and at times it would seem to swell up as tight as a drum. At night it seemed to be worse and at times I thought the pressure would cut off my breath. I was on edge most of the time and I couldn't seem to get a good night's sleep. In the mornings I had to drag myself out of bed.

"I certainly found Retonga to be everything claimed for it and I'm thankful for the prompt relief it gave me. I can eat anything I want to now and not have to worry about that gas forming on my stomach. Once more I know what a good night's sleep can mean to a fellow, and I don't feel on edge like I did. I'm more than glad to recommend Retonga to anyone suffering like I did."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. You can get Retonga at WAGGONER DRUG STORE (adv.)
